Excess Profits Tax Bill Given Final Approval

Provides 25 to 50
Per Cent Levies on U. S. Corporations

Washington—(P)—Congress swiftly completed action today on a compromise excess profits tax bill, including provisions to speed up expansion of defense industries, and sent it to the White House.

First the house gave final approval to the legislation, levying on excess corporate profits a tax of 25 to 50 per cent, and then the senate quickly followed suit, accepting the legislation on a voice vote, although leaders previously had said it would not be taken up by that branch until tomorrow.

Washington—(P)—Legislation levying on corporations an excess profits tax of 25 to 50 per cent was voted finally today by the house. The action put congress one notch nearer an election recess which leaders hoped to start this week-end.

The measure, put into present compromise form by a joint committee after house and senate had passed differing versions, now goes to the senate where approval, expected tomorrow, would send it to the White House. In addition to its tax sections it carries provisions designed to speed up armament production and furnish a system of insurance for the nation's fighting men.

Including a 3.1 per cent boost in the normal corporation income tax, the bill will produce, tax authorities said, $500,000,000 in revenue the first year and about $1,000,000,000 thereafter. Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the ways and means committee told the house that enactment of the bill was necessary to meet a "dire need" of the government for more income in these days of heavy defense spending.

Defense Fund Bill

When the tax bill clears the senate, congress will have only one major item on its calendar—a $1,469,993,636 defense appropriations measure which carries funds for the construction program and expansion of the standing army. This has yet to be acted on by the senate. Leaders expressed confidence it could be sent to the White House this week.

Defense speed-up provisions of the tax bill:

1. Would permit manufacturers to deduct from their taxable income over a five-year period the entire cost of defense production facilities completed after June 10, 1940.
2. Would suspend present profit limitations on the manufacture of warships and military aircraft.

Moreover, the measure would set up a new government insurance system for draftees, national guardsmen on active duty and other soldiers and sailors, permitting them to obtain policies up to $10,000 at low rates.

Normal Rate Increased

The 31 per cent corporation income tax increase would boost the normal rate from the present 20 1/2 to 24 per cent. Special lower rates for corporations with less than $25,000 net income would not be affected.

Under the excess profits tax schedule, the first $5,000 of profits would be exempted with "credits," based either on a concern's past earnings or its invested capital also would be allowed. The minimum credit would be 8 per cent of a corporation's newly invested capital.

All earnings in excess of the exemption and credits would be taxable at 25 per cent on the first $20,000, 30 per cent on the next $30,000, 35 per cent on the next $50,000, 40 per cent on the next $150,000, 45 per cent on the next $250,000, and 50 per cent on all over $500,000.

No Adjournment

Because of the anti-adjournment sentiment in a deluge of letters to congressmen, it was explained, all hopes of winding up the present session have been discarded. Instead, the objective has become a recess until after the Nov. 5 election.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, arranged to confer with house chiefs on the subject during the day.

Hugh O'Donnell (right), president of the University of Notre Dame, at South Bend, as he began an intensive campaign in the midwest. He wished the university another "100 years of genius."

Pool Would Cost Twice Hunter Firm Estimate

When the board of public works yesterday opened bids on Appleton's proposed swimming pool, it found prices so much higher than anticipated that the entire project appeared to be in jeopardy today.

The board is meeting this afternoon to consider the various bids and is expected to make a recommendation to the council which meets at 7:30 Wednesday night in city hall.

Tentative figures showed that the low bids on the pool, the filtration plant, the bathhouse, electrical and plumbing work add up to about $75,000. Engineering costs and patent rights, which would be paid to the Hunter Swimming Pools, Inc., total an additional $40,000.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., estimated this morning that landscaping, a concessions building and equipment and other incidentals would total about $15,000 which, in all would bring the cost of the pool close to $100,000.

This figure is more than double the estimate of the Hunter company which figured the pool would cost $48,709 including engineering fees and patent rights. The city's contract with the Hunter firm stipulates that if bids on the pool run more than 10 per cent above the estimate, the city will owe the Hunter company nothing.

Bids were offered by the Koepke Construction company, Morris Hickey, Hoffman Construction company, Holz and Bass, Charles A. Green and Son, Edward H. Meyer, Oshkosh, Langstadt Electric company, Killoren Electric company, R. Wenzel Plumbing and Heating company, Wenzel Brothers Inc. and Steiner Construction company.

The Hunter pool is circular, 150 feet in diameter and built like a saucer. It is patented by the Hunter company.

Ask for Probe of Defense Housing

Washington—(P)—A republican demand for a senatorial investigation of "confusion" in defense housing activities brought a Democratic reply today that government efforts to provide homes for defense industry employees were being coordinated under one head.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) asked an inquiry by a five-member senate committee into the need for defense housing, the amount of government subsidy that should be paid and the possibility of coordinating the work of four agencies which may participate in a program expected to cost $250,000,000.

The senate inquiry was sought after Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, objected to a proposal by Taft for an investigation by a joint senate and house committee of 10. Barkley predicted little would be accomplished by such an unwieldy group but said he was "willing to consider" Taft's subsequent proposal.

Taft contended that "confusion" existed because of different policies followed by the various agencies.

Three More Measures Added To U. S. Conscription Plans

Washington—(P)—The war department incorporated in its conscription program today three more measures to facilitate the training of men drafted for service, to encourage their initiative and to foster their morale.

Top item was creation of an entirely new peacetime system of army tactical corps commanders whose "principal function" will be to train regular army, national guard and drafted troops.

The army simultaneously made known yesterday its intention of giving trainees an opportunity to qualify for officers' commissions, and also announced the allotment of $2,594,152 for athletic equipment, books, service clubs and motion picture theatres to provide additional entertainment at training centers.

Boy Kidnaper Pleads Guilty

Faces Sentencing
Friday for Abducting
Boy in California

Redwood City—(P)—Wilhelm Muhlenbroich pleaded guilty today to the kidnaping of Marc de Trislan, 3, but sentencing was deferred until Friday. He faces life in prison, without hope of parole.

The hearing took only four minutes.

Joseph Bullock, one of the two court-appointed attorneys for the 40-year-old German alien, told Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt that Muhlenbroich had been informed of his rights, that the attorneys were careful to explain to him the magnitude of his crime and the punishment that must be exacted, but Bullock contended, Muhlenbroich insisted there be no delay and argued that he must plead guilty at once.

"Is that correct?" the clerk asked Muhlenbroich.

The defendant nodded emphatically.

The clerk asked for his plea.

"Guilty, sir," Muhlenbroich announced. He stood erect and was completely composed.

Judge McNutt then set Friday as the day for sentencing.

Panama's Youngest Chief Takes Office

Panama, Panama—(P)—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, 38, taking office as the youngest president in this republic's history, pledged his administration today to a policy of "peace and friendship toward all nations."

Addressing an inauguration audience of 30,000 in the national stadium, Dr. Arias stressed that he would pursue a course of pan-American solidarity, but with emphasis on Panama's own interests and avoidance of entanglements in the world's current disputes.

The president gathered about himself a relatively youthful cabinet, none of whom served in the previous administration. The members of the new cabinet average less than 45 years of age.

Two Men Accused of Cemetery Lot Fraud

Detroit—(P)—Federal postal inspectors today arrested Herman L. Sarshik, 44, Philadelphia, and George V. Arlen, 40, Brooklyn, on charges of participating in a cemetery lot swindle in seven central and eastern states.

Melville L. Goldsmith, Chicago postal inspector, said 19 persons indicted July 29 in Chicago were charged with obtaining more than $300,000 by "high-pressure" customers into buying lots on contracts, and then departing without producing the lots.

Disclosing for the first time that draftees would be given an opportunity to rise above a sergeant's grade, General George C. Marshall said that plans were being made for "candidates' schools" which picked enlisted men might attend for the last three or four months of their year's training to work for lieutenants' commissions.

The chief of staff also announced that nine tactical corps would be created to control the training of the regular army and national guard units into which drafted trainees will be absorbed.

By that method, training will be separated from the supply and "housekeeping" functions now performed by the commanders of nine army corps area, which are geographical units. The tactical corps will consist of army divisions, not geographical regions.

Nation 'Pushed Toward War,' Willkie Charges

Promises to 'Clean
House in Government'
If He Wins Election

Aboard Willkie Train Enroute Through Michigan—(P)—A Republican campaign tour of Michigan industrial centers, where the labor vote is heavy, today followed Wendell L. Willkie's assertion that the Roosevelt administration is pushing "us ever closer and closer toward war."

Facing a cheering audience which filled the bulk of the 20,000 seats in Detroit's Olympia stadium, the Republican presidential nominee said last night.

"The closer Mr. Roosevelt gets us to war, the more people say that we ought not to change horses in the middle of the stream."

"Well, for one thing, what are we doing in the middle of the stream? How did we get there? The man who got us in is not the right one to get us out."

Willkie was addressing the National Federation of Women's Republican clubs, whose members gave him a long rising ovation and interrupted his half hour address frequently with applause.

Raps 'Bunk Artists'

"When Senator McNary and I are elected," he told them, "the first thing I shall do to help you in the great task that lies ahead of you, will be to clean house in the government. I will clean out the cynics and unbelievers, the nuts and bunk artists. My administration will be composed of men who believe in the American people."

Declaring that there is danger of young people becoming cynical, he continued:

"Thousands of our youth, who have lost faith in other people, have formed communist groups, and have received encouragement from very high places."

Shortly before he finished speaking, a tomato was thrown from a gallery and landed in the press.

Section Worker Killed by Train

Body of Man Found
This Morning Lying Near Tracks at Medina

The body of Charles Gnepa, about 40, Minneapolis, Minn., a Soo Line section hand, was found lying on the railroad right-of-way at Medina about 7 o'clock this morning by a fellow workman, William Brocker.

Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, who, with Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, coroner, investigated, stated the workman was killed last night by a freight train as he walked along the tracks towards the section crew's living quarters. Dohr said no inquest would be held.

Gnepa was last seen about 11 o'clock last night when he left a companion at the County Trunk M. crossing. His body was found this morning about 200 feet from the crossing. His skull was fractured.

The body was taken to the Hoyer Funeral home, Dale Dohr said little could be learned about the man from railroad officials except that he had been hired at Minneapolis. The section crew is raising the railroad grade near Medina.

Waupun, Wis.—(P)—Fred Kotke, 60, a railroad section worker, was killed and two others injured today when their gasoline work car was struck by a Milwaukee road freight train near Bunette.

Hugh Warren, a section gang foreman, received a broken leg and Hugh McRoberts, also a section worker, cuts and bruises. All were residents of Waupun.

Kotke is survived by the widow and one son.

Wounded survivors, disheartened French officers and footsore stragglers pieced together for me today their version of the Japanese attack which last week routed the defenders of Langson, strategic point on the northern border of harassed French Indo-China.

FDR Welcomes 20 Latin Chieftains

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt told 20 military chieftains from nine Latin American nations today that the defense of the Americas was a "common problem" and that the expression "one for all and all for one" also was common to all the 21 republics of this hemisphere.

Mr. Roosevelt received the delegation in his executive office, shook hands with all its members, and heard General Felipe Rivera of Bolivia declare that the visit would forge "another link in the chain of cordiality and happy relations between our countries, which must produce the assurance of the continuation of our ideals and capabilities of defending them."

Racine Says Goodbye To Its Last Street Car

Racine—(P)—Racine said goodbye today to its last street car line, which has given way to buses.

Former street car workers, some city officials and newspapermen took the last ride on the trolley line last night. A few residents along the cross-town route stayed up and cheered as the car went past with bell clanging.

Colonel F. C. Harrington

WPA Head Dies In Connecticut

Apparently Was on Road to Recovery
After Operation

New London, Conn.—(P)—Colonel F. C. Harrington, 53, who capped a brilliant army career by becoming head of the vast works project administration, died last night at the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospitals.

Suffering from what his physician described as an intestinal obstruction, Harrington underwent an operation Sept. 23 and apparently was on the road to recovery able to converse by telephone with his aids in Washington as recently as Friday. Complications developed, however, and his condition became critical Sunday.

Harrington, whose illness first developed in mid-July, came to New London Aug. 20 to visit at the summer home of his brother-in-law, former Congressman William Rayburn of Philadelphia. He entered the hospital two weeks ago.

His two children, William Harrington, a student at Yale, and Miss Eleanor Harrington, were at his bedside last night. His wife, the former Eleanor Closter Rayburn, died in 1938.

Harrington, a native of Bristol, Va., was the No. 2 man in his class when he graduated from West Point in 1909. During the World war he served as an instructor of engineers and also saw brief service in France. He joined the WPA in 1935 and three years later succeeded Harry L. Hopkins as head of the agency dispensing work relief to millions.

Tomah Priest Killed In Automobile Smashup

Tomah, Wis.—(P)—The Rev. Lawrence Klumek, 33, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church here, was killed today when his automobile crashed into a guard rail on Highway 21. Father Klumek was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Klumek of Wausau. He previously had served as assistant pastor of St. John's church at Marshfield.

Survivors Tell How Japs Routed Defenders of Indo-China Region

BY C. YATES McDANIEL

Hanoi, French Indo-China—(P)—Wounded survivors, disheartened French officers and footsore stragglers pieced together for me today their version of the Japanese attack which last week routed the defenders of Langson, strategic point on the northern border of harassed French Indo-China.

They all said the fight was forced on them after they had been informed an amicable agreement had been reached to settle the Japanese demands on the colony.

Sixty-five seriously wounded French Indo-China Annamites (native troops) were brought here by train, truck and plane.

In three days the Japanese succeeded in wiping out a month's defense preparations. They captured the French general and his staff with several thousand of his French legionnaires and colonial infantrymen.

The stories of these men, some of them uncomplaining five to seven days after they had been wounded by bullets and bomb fragments, added up to the fact that someone underestimated the Japanese ability to nullify French artillery superiority and launch a surprise assault at pistol range on Langson's tightly-protected rear positions.

One officer, whose men held up a Japanese flanking movement for two days, said he was given to believe the Japanese on the Indo-China border were not equipped to attack. However, against his outpost position, manned by a few machine-guns and trench mortars, the Japanese hurled three tanks backed up by mountain artillery and planes.

He feared only four members of his platoon escaped.

Another officer told how he blew up his battery of 155-millimeter guns—like nearly all the French artillery were placed to stop a frontal attack—when Jap-

General Slain; Plotted Revolt, Mexicans Say

Friend of Almazan
Shot Down in Fight
With Police, Soldiers

Monterrey, Mexico—(P)—Brigadier General Andres Zarzosa, longtime friend of Juan Andreu Almazan, defeated presidential candidate, was shot dead in a battle with police and soldiers today.

The authorities charged Zarzosa was attempting to incite an uprising here against the government.

Police thus smashed what they declared was a revolutionary plot to seize the garrison, governor's palace and other state and local offices here.

Authorities said they now had restored order and that all was quiet in Monterrey.

Several persons were reported under arrest.

The newspaper Tiempo said military authorities descended on Zarzosa and his adherents after one of the latter, alarmed by the proportions of the reported plot, had tipped off police.

Entered City Secretely

Zarzosa was reported to have entered Monterrey secretly, timing his coup for early this morning.

Zarzosa was commander of the 31st Infantry battalion, but had been given leave to help Almazan in his campaign for presidency against General Manuel Avila Camacho, the administration nominee.

Another man with Zarzosa also was killed during the gunfight, and a soldier was wounded.

Zarzosa and his followers were surrounded about 2 a. m. in a house which they had rented and were reported to have opened fire on the soldiers upon the latter's demand that they surrender.

The troops returned the fire and Zarzosa and an unidentified companion were killed.

Government forces recently pursued similar small bands of rebels and outlaws in Chihuahua, Tamaulipas and Michoacan states. Most of these groups were reported to have surrendered.

Almazan himself is understood to be in the United States on an extended "vacation."

Begin Work for New Marinette Building

Marinette—(P)—Workmen today began razing the Marinette county courthouse to make way for the construction of a modern $315,000 building.

L. E. Hess, chairman of the county board of supervisors, said that the WPA had allotted $6,000 for razing the old landmark, $100,000 for construction of the new courthouse, and $8,000 for landscaping the grounds and driveway and sidewalk construction.

The old structure was built in 1880 and the sheriff's residence and jail 11 years later.

Berlin Has Its Longest Alarm

Nazi Sources Say
British 'Novices'
On Training Flights

Berlin—(P)—British air-raiders swarmed over western Germany last night and today and gave Berlin its longest alarm of the war but German sources said the British pilots were "novices" sent over primarily for training instead of heavy bombing.

The raids were said to have been directed against populous industrial western Germany and the Berlin suburbs, where several persons were reported injured by a heavy bomb which exploded near three apartment buildings.

The alarm kept Berlin's residents in shelters five hours and eight minutes.

Informed sources said at least 68 British planes were shot down yesterday and in the overnight air fighting and that a final check might show an even greater toll.

Little damage was said to have resulted from the raids into Germany. This was said to be because the British sent over "flying novices."

5,000 Killed, 8,000 Injured In September

London—(P)—London, counting an estimated 5,000 dead and 8,000 wounded in almost incessant September air-raids, has received "official assurances" that a new defense system is being developed to meet night attacks—source of a majority of the casualties.

Inspired articles in the London press quoted high official quarters that the new defense should be in operation in from one to three months.

Whether the defense would be a new combat plan or a new night anti-aircraft weapon—or both—was not disclosed.

It came as comforting news to Londoners emerging from chill air-raid shelters after their twenty-fourth consecutive night of attack in which bombs exploded in 27 scattered sections of the city. Only a few hit central London as residence districts and suburbs bore the brunt of the bombing.

London's anti-aircraft defenses roared into action again this morning as scattered German raiders, dodging across the cloud-blanketed channel, appeared over the battered capital before dawn.

A formation of about 15 Nazi planes which crossed the southwest coast late in the morning was attacked immediately by British fighters.

Blow to Shipping

Three of the raiders were seen to fall out of formation to the north of Poole, Dorsetshire.

The admiralty disclosed that British shipping had taken its worst jolt of the war in the week ended Sept. 23 by acknowledging that Nazi submarines had sunk 19 British vessels totaling 131,857 tons. The loss of three allied and five neutral ships brought the total tonnage loss to 159,288 tons—almost three times the previous weekly average.

Informed quarters, speculating on the reason for the sudden increase in losses, expressed belief the Germans might have pressed French and Italian submarines into service.

"We must be prepared for these things," they said, as part of Adolf Hitler's "attempt to end the war before winter."

British sources did not rule out, however, the possibility the heavy losses might be just "a streak of luck," and said that after all they were not serious in view of the previous successes of convoys which have filled England's warehouses to overflowing.

Raiders Fly High

The first German raiders sighted over London after daylight were lone raiders, flying at a high altitude. Anti-aircraft batteries in the northwest, southwest, west and south of the capital went into action and the sky was dotted with the cotton-like puffs of bursting shells.

Four persons were killed and seven injured in a north London district in the morning when high explosive bombs struck a residential area. Five persons were rescued from a wrecked bungalow.

Other raiders were sighted almost simultaneously over other parts of England.

Two Nazi planes attacked a Welsh town, dropping incendiary and high-explosive bombs. One raider was reported to have dived low through a cloud bank and strafed the area with spitting machine-guns.

Raiders also were reported in the vicinity of a southeast coast town and also over two southwest coast towns shortly before noon.

An air ministry communiqué said German bombers destroyed a number of houses and caused casualties in a northeastern suburb but declared "reports indicate that damage generally has not been extensive nor the number of casualties large."

Liverpool Target

The important shipping section of Liverpool, the midlands and "several other parts of the country, particularly southeast England," were attacked, the communiqué said.

Casualties, including several fatalities, were reported in an east midlands town.

A Junkers bomber, lone rear-guard of the night raiders, flew over areas south of London this morning. A southeast London station employee said the plane dived to within a few hundred feet of the ground to machine-gun a train. There were few persons in the station, and no one was hurt, he said.

London's anti-aircraft barrage, reinforced by cruising squadrons of fighters, was reported to have fired only 30 out of his 2,000 rounds.

No Quick Spanish Entry Into War

Rome—(P)—Authoritative sources declared today that immediate Spanish entry into the European war was not an issue at conferences started this morning between Premier Mussolini and Generalissimo Francisco Franco's minister of government, Ramon Serrano Suner.

Italo-German friendship for Spain it was said, will not permit any pressure upon Spain to step into an active part in the war.

The Rome talks, started this morning, were said to have "a very important aim—already reached—of reinforcing, clarifying and making precise the identity of views between the nationalities of Spain of Generalissimo Franco and the two victorious axis powers."

The source added that England probably would "shout victory" and say that "Spain resisted axis pressure," but that no such pressure had been brought to bear.

Grandson of Ex-Kaiser Is Married at Doorn

Doorn, the Netherlands—(P)—Prince Karl Franz Josef of Prussia, grandson of former Kaiser Wilhelm II, and Princess Henriette Schoenach-Caroline, step-daughter of the former kaiser, were married today in "Huize Doorn," Wilhelm's residence here.

The mayor of Doorn performed the ceremony in the presence of the former kaiser, his second wife, Princess Hermine, and a few guests.

The 22-year-old bride is the youngest daughter of Princess Hermine. The bridegroom, 24, is the son of the late Prince Joachim, Wilhelm's sixth son.

Improvement Is Seen in Cutover Timber Regions

Special $1,100,000 Program Outlined for Rehabilitating Area

Washington.—The department of agriculture is looking forward to a general improvement in economic conditions in the cutover timber areas of northern Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin.

This attitude was expressed by Secretary Wickard and Undersecretary Pittenger (R-Minn.) who recently had urged Wickard, new department head, to step forward with aggressive action for rehabilitation of the area.

Wickard replied that the department had recommended revision of the Harrison-Colmer bill for payments in lieu of taxes to states on federally-owned land, but that pending a survey by the federal real estate board, the bureau of the budget declared enactment of the measure would not be in accord with the program of the president.

Outline Program
Appley outlined the purpose of a special $1,100,000 program of farm security administration recently authorized for the northern lakes states region by the department and asserted:

"This program, which is in addition to the standard farm security administration program of loans and grants in the region, is designed to meet the particular needs of the cutover area by assisting families to establish themselves on a self-sustaining basis and thus reduce dependence upon public relief. Explaining the special program, the department officials said it followed one of the recommendations of the northern lakes states regional committee to provide loans to finance indebtedness on presently owned tracts, to acquire additional land, to obtain economic sized units, to assist families to purchase such sized units in the areas best suited for agriculture and to clear and improve these units.

It was recognized, they said, that the allocation would assist only a small portion of 20,000 rural families estimated to require such assistance in that area but it was hoped the plan would demonstrate its merits.

Badger Businessmen To Attend Conference

Milwaukee.—More than 600 Wisconsin businessmen will meet in Milwaukee Oct. 9 for an "Industrial leadership conference" to "clear the road for defense production."

Co-chairmen of the conference, C. O. Wamv, president of the Globe-Union, Inc., and Alfred J. Kleckhefer, president of the National Enameling and Stamping company, announced that the business men would hear a series of addresses calling for "moral and spiritual awakening of the nation to better combat militant forces trying to destroy our American way of life."

Speakers include H. W. Prentiss, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and J. Howard Pew, vice president of the N.A.M.

The conference will be sponsored by the Wisconsin Manufacturers association and the Employers Association of Milwaukee.

Declares Milwaukee Man Took Own Life

Waukegan.—A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned last night in the death of William G. Hanson, 67, vice president of the Albert H. Weinbrenner Shoe company, Milwaukee.

Hanson died Sunday in Milwaukee hospital of shotgun wounds suffered Aug. 20 near his country home at Delafield.

Coroner Martin E. Fromm, who returned yesterday from a vacation, said he investigated the shooting last August.

Fromm said Hanson shot himself after sending the caretaker of his estate on an errand.

Du Shane Will Speak At Kiwanis Meeting

More Than Forty in Music Class at Kimberly School

Kimberly.—More than forty children of Holy Name school and high school students are members of a music class at the high school, directed by Gordon Kotkosky, conductor of the high school band.

The grade school children are eager to learn band music, so that by the time they enter high school, they can be members of the band.

Next spring Mr. Kotkosky will lose about twenty band members through graduation. In addition to a number of first stringers in trumpet, trombone and the reed section, he will also lose his four drum majors. After a high school student graduates and if he was a member of the band, he may join the Community band to continue his musical work.

Beginners on trumpet are Bobby Willis, Glen Lovager, Albert Adams, Peter Berben, John Marks, seats directly in front of the platform.

His four stops today were booked for Pontiac, Flint, Lansing and Grand Rapids. His final talk in Michigan will be made tomorrow morning at Adrian, and then he will move into Ohio.

At Pontiac, Willkie charged the Roosevelt administration with trying to solve its problems by one of two methods—"appropriating more money or grabbing more power."

As a result, the nominee said, the administration has more power than any of its predecessors.

Boos were mingled with applause from the crowd surrounding the courthouse, where Willkie spoke from a specially-erected platform.

While he was driving back to the railroad station an egg was thrown into his car. It broke against the back of the front seat, and splashed over Mrs. Willkie.

Willkie scowled, his car stopped for a moment, and one of his bodyguards pointed to the direction from which the egg was thrown. A minute later another egg hit a truck carrying photographers ahead of Willkie's car.

Steve Buckley, one of the nominee's guards, said he saw a third egg splatter over a woman spectator in the sidewalk.

After the train left Pontiac, state police detailed about 15 officials to circulate through crowds at later stops to guard against recurrence of such incidents. Heretofore they had been concentrated about the speaker's platform, with crowd patrol left to local officials.

"Whenever there has been a continuous concentration of power in the federal government," the nominee told his audience, "the right of laboring men to organize rapidly has disappeared."

Raps "Catechisms"
Anyone who seeks to answer arguments against administration activities with "catechisms," Willkie said, and who is able to lead others to follow him, "is going down the road to slavery that now exists in Germany."

If democracy is to be preserved, the nominee said, people should not "substitute catechisms for thinking." He renewed his argument that the New Deal "has made it pleasant and easy for the rich by providing numerous tax-exempt bonds in which they can invest."

Urging his hearers to think about the election, Willkie added: "Don't let them lead you like cattle to the shambles." He urged them not to be "misled by men like Ed Flynn who buys up votes." Edward J. Flynn is chairman of the Democratic national committee.

At Flint Willkie drove through the business district, where for two blocks men and women lined the sidewalks and applauded, then he toured the factory district.

In front of a labor auditorium, he told an audience that "the man who closes his mind even to listening to what other men have to say—has made himself a non-functioning member of the Democratic community. He becomes merely the tool of somebody else."

A man who arouses prejudices for that purpose, he added, is "a menace to democratic life." Any party which follows such practices, he asserted, "should be defeated by the very people whose minds it seeks to close."

At Lansing Willkie drove through the business district, where for two blocks men and women lined the sidewalks and applauded, then he toured the factory district.

Church to Hold 3-Day Devotion Before Feast Day

Triduum to be Held In Preparation for Catholic Observance

A triduum or 3-day devotion in preparation for the observance of the feast of St. Francis, patron of the Franciscan order, will take place at St. Joseph's church beginning at 7:30 this evening and continuing Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Rev. Rudolph Mutterer of Monte Alverno retreat house will preach the sermons each evening, and there will be benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On Friday, the feast day, there will be general communion for members of the Third Order of St. Francis.

The dances for young people of high school age which were inaugurated last year at St. Joseph's hall, will be resumed Wednesday night after the summer recess.

Emmanuel Evangelical church will have a public chicken dinner from 5 to 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the church, served by the Social Aid. The latter organization will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the church.

The Rev. A. Guenther, pastor of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church, and one or more lay delegates will attend the regional conference for ministers and delegates Wednesday at Ripon.

Baptist Meetings
Merry Mates of First Baptist church will meet Thursday night at the church, and the board of finances will meet Friday night. There will be a choir rehearsal at 6:30 Thursday evening. A meeting of Ladies Aid society Wednesday afternoon and the Mr. and Mrs. Club Friday night are the only special events scheduled at Mt. Olive Lutheran church this week.

Plans for the state convention at Wausau Oct. 13 will be made by the Brotherhood of First English Lutheran church at 7:45 this evening at the parish hall. Martin Gauerke will lead the topic on "Christian Stewardship." Ladies Aid society will meet at 2:15 Thursday afternoon.

The first meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church is being held this afternoon at the church.

Announcements for holy communion next Sunday at St. Matthew Lutheran church will take place Friday afternoon and evening at the parsonage. Junior Bible class will meet at 7 o'clock tonight and the senior class at 8 o'clock.

At the annual mission festival at Zion Lutheran church Sunday, the Rev. W. E. Staehling, Waupun, spoke at the morning services and showed movies on Palestine in the evening. Ladies society will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the parish school auditorium.

Mid-Week Prayer
There will be a mid-week prayer meeting at Wesleyan Methodist church at 7:45 Thursday night.

School trustees of St. Paul Lutheran school will meet at 7:30 Wednesday night, the senior choir will meet at 7:45 Thursday evening and the junior choir at 7 o'clock Friday night. Ladies Aid society will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mt. Calvary Lutheran church at Kimberly will have a quarterly meeting of the congregation at 7:30 Friday night in the village hall. Sunday afternoon and evening the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor of Emmanuel Evangelical church, will be guest speaker at Morrison Evangelical church of which the Rev. H. P. Jordan is pastor. At the Appleton church, rally day will be observed in the morning.

"Reality" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. Among the citations from the Bible was the following: "And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered and said, the kingdom of God cometh not with observation: Neither shall they say, Lo here! or lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you." There will be a testimony meeting at 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

Salvation Army Scout Troop to Receive Charter

The new Salvation Army Boy Scout Troop No. 54 will be installed tonight at the Salvation Army building, according to Adjutant T. A. Raber.

The troop will be installed by Major Carl Lomas, Milwaukee, division young peoples' secretary for the Salvation Army. A representative of the Valley council will be on hand to present the charter.

An investiture ceremony for nine tenderfoot scouts will be led by Roy Jury, a committeeman, Claude Snow, the troop's commissioner, also will be at the ceremony.

Wilfred Kaufman is scoutmaster and Robert Last is assistant scoutmaster.

Gustave Lemke Is Reelected Head of Business Men's Group

Gustave Lemke was reelected president of the Wisconsin Association of Business and Professional Men's association last night at the Dr. Pepper Bottling company building, W. Wisconsin avenue.

Ann Bergacker was named secretary to replace Martin Umuth and Edwin Wilton was reelected treasurer. Dr. F. W. Donohue, Joseph Bestler, William Benaberg and Gordon Laux were named to the board of directors.

War Situation Today

Fascists Deny Pressure Is Being Brought Upon Spain

Authoritative fascist quarters in Rome, predicting that England would probably "shout victory" and say that "Spain resisted axis pressure," acknowledged today that immediate Spanish entry into the war was not an issue at conferences started between Premier Mussolini and Spanish Minister Ramon Serrano Suner.

These quarters asserted that no such pressure had been brought to bear on Spain—despite an apparently synchronized barrage of dispatches from Berlin and Rome recently stating that Spain was expected to join the axis as a full-fledged partner.

Well-informed sources in Berlin said meanwhile that German diplomacy is lending a "helping hand" to bring together the axis' new partner, Japan, and her old foe, Russia, in a non-aggression pact.

While fascists cast doubt on the possibility of a formal Rome-Berlin-Madrid alliance at present, the Italian press seemed to take it for granted that Spain could be used anyway as an axis base for attack on Gibraltar.

By this means, the Nazi-fascist strategists apparently hoped to relieve Spain of a forthright declaration of war against England—with the inevitable consequence of a British blockade being clamped on Spain—and yet to utilize Spain for an assault on Britain's great rock fortress which guards the west gate of the Mediterranean.

Italian circles in Rome indicated that Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco intended to keep Spain out of the conflict "until the right moment."

Foreign observers interpreted this to mean Spain would wait until Britain's collapse appeared imminent before jumping off the neutrality fence—much as Italy waited until France virtually was prostrate.

Amid this seeming reversal to axis diplomatic coups, the British admiralty acknowledged today that British shipping suffered its worst jolt of the war in the week ended Sept. 23, with a loss of 9 British, 3 allied and 5 neutral ships totalling 159,238 tons, or almost three times the previous weekly average.

A British spokesman said the sea destruction, indicating a greatly increased Nazi U-boat campaign, was part of Adolf Hitler's "attempt to end the war before winter."

The spokesman discounted the losses, however, declaring that the convoy system already had filled England's warehouses to overflowing.

The spokesman discounted the losses, however, declaring that the convoy system already had filled England's warehouses to overflowing.

While London's millions seemed assured of a plentiful food supply for the winter, an ominous official note struck in the fate of the bomb-torn capital itself.

For the first time, all Londoners able to do so were urged to leave the city for safer havens in the countryside. The systematic removal of mothers and children from the London area was extended, and Food Minister Lord Woolton announced that 58 emergency feeding stations had been opened in the capital to feed families bombed out of their homes.

Coincidentally, it was estimated that London's casualty toll for September totalled 5,000 killed and 8,000 wounded—approximately five times greater than the August casualties of 1,075 killed and 1,261 wounded.

The empire capital's 8,000,000 found brighter news, however, when they emerged from underground shelters after the twenty-fourth consecutive night of air attack to read in their morning newspapers that a new defense system is being developed to combat the Nazi bombing assault.

"We can hope to stop night raids," an official said a headline in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express. "The newspaper quoted 'high official' quarters that Britain would soon have 'a complete answer to night bombing.'"

Gets Job but Lands in Jail Driving to Work

Indianapolis.—Luther Kirby, 28, of Greenwood had been out of work for months but he had a job at last.

Two days before, his house had been destroyed by fire and his wife and small daughter had been burned. He needed money for a doctor's bill.

Yesterday he was driving on Indianapolis' south side on his way to his first day at work. His old car was in a collision with another.

Police arrested him on charges of having faulty brakes, being without a certificate of title for his automobile and failing to stop for a preferential street.

They put him in jail. Now he doesn't know whether he has a job or not.

County Wins Claim In $983 Relief Claim

Outagamie county has won its relief claim for $983.10 against the town of Neenah, Winnebago county, according to word received by George Fiedler, county relief director, from the state department of public assistance. The county will receive the money next April with interest from last Feb. 1.

Hearing for Alleged Slayer Set for Oct. 15

Milwaukee.—Upon the motion of his attorney, the preliminary hearing for Joseph F. Eliszewski on a first degree murder charge has been set over to Oct. 15.

Eliszewski was charged yesterday with the killing of James M. Rowan, manager of a collection agency, who was shot Saturday in the corridor outside his office in a downtown building.

The defendant told police that he took a gun along when he went to Rowan's office to request the return of an insurance policy which had been held by the collection agency during negotiations over the collection of a bill.

Flynn Declares Roosevelt Will Carry Midwest

National Democratic Chairman Says Willkie Has Raised No Issues

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Claiming Illinois and the middle west for President Roosevelt, Chairman Edward J. Flynn of the National Democratic committee contended today that Wendell L. Willkie thus far "has raised no real issue" in the presidential campaign.

Flynn conferred here with party leaders from Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kentucky and said their reports of Democratic prospects "more than confirm the information he had previously received at New York headquarters."

In a statement, Flynn said the conferees reported that "Roosevelt sentiment is increasing daily and Willkie support is fading."

"Since that is true in all sections of the country, the entire national picture looks fine," the statement added.

Flynn referred to the Republican presidential nominee as "an aspiring and perspiring candidate who has now exhausted his energies, and often his voice, across the country and back."

"Mr. Willkie is every speech adds his 'me too' stamp to some progressive reform of the Roosevelt administration or else in a vague and general way says that he could do what is being done much better than is now the case."

Can't Do Any Better
"If Mr. Willkie would tell the country just once just how he could do what President Roosevelt is doing better than it is now being done, there might then be an issue. The truth is that Mr. Willkie does not know."

In a press conference, Flynn said he didn't consider the third term issue "as long as we have free elections" and expressed doubt that the draft or administration foreign policies would decisively affect the election outcome because "Willkie has agreed with the president on those questions."

Flynn, on a cross-country plane trip to meet party leaders, left today for Kansas City, Mo.

Illinois leaders at a dinner conference with Flynn last night at the executive mansion included Senator Scott W. Lucas, Midwest Democratic campaign chairman; Arthur A. Sullivan, state chairman; and Charles E. Bliss, campaign manager. Mayor Edward J. Kelly, party national committeeman, was "out of the state" and sent regrets.

Other dinner guests were Frank J. Kuhl, Milwaukee, campaign finance director for Wisconsin; state work chairman Thomas R. Underwood and campaign manager William B. Ardrey of Kentucky; national committeeman Frank J. Comfort and Iowa chairman E. H. Birmingham of Iowa.

'Y' Drive Gets Under Way at Dinner Meeting

Goal 1,000 Members And $13,000; Prospect Cards are Distributed

More than 100 workers met Monday evening at the Appleton Y. M. C. A. for a dinner meeting which opened the annual Y membership campaign. It will continue until Oct. 7.

Goal of the campaign workers this year is a membership of 1,000 and receipts of $13,000.

In preparation for the drive, 3,635 prospect cards have been distributed with information about the institution and its membership rates. A total of 3,900 prospect cards, or one for every nine people in Appleton, were made available to workers at the opening session.

Presiding over the meeting was H. A. Helble, one of the co-chairmen of the campaign. The other is George F. Johnson.

Campaign workers were told by Helble that prospective army draftees need not fear that they will be making a needless expenditure by joining the "Y." The Appleton Y. M. C. A. said Mr. Helble, will either hold memberships of drafted men in abeyance until they return, permit them to assign the membership to someone else, or refund the membership fee on a prorata basis.

"You are representing a business institution that has something definite to offer and you've got something to sell," Helble told campaign workers. He explained that during the last year the "Y" has effected savings of $4,000 through its administrative and fiscal policies. This, Helble said, has been "plowed back into the building."

Other speakers were A. F. Tuttle and E. T. Orbison, both of whom paid tribute to the memory of F. J. Harwood, long active in Y. M. C. A. affairs. Orbison, president of the "Y" board of directors, urged increased activity among campaigners to make up for the loss suffered in Mr. Harwood's death last August. Tuttle, in behalf of the resolutions committee of which he is chairman, presented a resolution in tribute to Mr. Harwood's memory. Other members of the committee are the Rev. G. H. Blum and G. T. Werner.

Clerks to Supervise Registration for Draft

General duties and obligations of county, city, village and town clerks in regard to the Oct. 16 draft registration have been announced, although the final draft of selective service regulations has not yet been received by the state headquarters of selective service.

County clerks will be instructed by state headquarters not only in their own responsibilities, but in the duties and obligations of all election personnel in their counties. The county clerks will be expected to instruct and work through all city, village and town clerks within their counties in order to secure an efficient registration in each polling place. Generally the local election board will constitute the registration board and one member will be designated by the board's immediate supervising authority as chief registrar.

At least four different kinds of forms will be distributed by each county clerk to the local clerks and then by each local clerk to the chief registrar in each voting place. One form is a placard for posting in the polling place; another is a registration card which will be filled out by a registrar for each registrant. The registrar also fills out for each registrant a form certifying him as one who has registered. The fourth form is an information booklet, a copy of which is given to each registrant.

Open Hours
Each polling place will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. on registration day. Persons awaiting registration at closing time will be registered before the registration actually is closed. The chief registrar in

SYKES SERVICE

Will Be at the Conway Hotel
Appleton

Thursday, October 3
(Hours 10-12; 2-6; 7-9)

Bring your rupture troubles to us. Have a MODERN SYKES appliance personally designed for your exact needs. No straps, belt, corset, or adhesive plaster is used because it fits SO EXACTLY that it holds itself in place. Many ruptures improve rapidly WHEN PROPERLY HELD and the appliance should be changed to conform to the progress made; therefore I call regularly, every six weeks, and make all changes as necessary without extra charge for a period of one year.

Results vary according to the conditions—Many report that they are corrected and can go without any appliance in a FEW MONTHS, while others need a longer time. But this, you can judge for yourself after six months' trial, and then if you are not Entirely Satisfied with the results derived, refund will be made in accordance with our written guarantee.

If possible come in. Let us show you some of the letters we receive. Otherwise write to F. C. Trace, of Oshkosh, Wis., for FREE BOOKLET - TODAY.

10 Men Added To Company D Recruit List

Regulars, Recruits
Now Number 116 Men;
Office Open Evenings

Ten men were added yesterday and this morning to the growing list of recruits needed to fill the new quota, 143 men, for Company D, Wisconsin National Guard, according to Captain H. J. Piette.

The newly enlisted men bring the company's total of regulars and recruits to 116 men. Fourteen regulars have been exempted from service and six more will be dropped from the roll this week, Captain Piette said.

The regular strength of the company is 78 men and that number will be filled out from the list of recruits as the exempted men are dropped. The company still needs cooks, Captain Piette said.

The newly enlisted men are: Stanley Mollitt, route 2, Black Creek; George Brinkman, route 2, Seymour; Russell Schultz, route 1, Appleton; Arthur Cramblit, route 1, Hortonville; Frank Kieffer, route 4, Appleton; Floyd Halverson, 906 S. Oneida street; Kenneth Arps, 705 Lawe street; Kaukauna; James Brewer, 626 W. Atlantic street; John Deier, Dancy; and Aaron Schabo, 204 W. Parkway boulevard.

The company's office in Armory G. W. College avenue, will be open mornings and afternoons and to 10 o'clock each evening to accept enlistments.

Wastebasket Fells Detroit Girl Seeking Willkie's Autograph

Detroit — A girl autograph hunter, struck on the head by a metal wastebasket as she waited outside a downtown hotel to see Wendell L. Willkie last night, was reported in a serious condition with a skull fracture today.

The basket was one of several missiles which showered down on the crowd following the Republican presidential nominee shortly after he had entered the hotel.

The girl was identified as Betty Wilson, 19, a dozen stitches were required to close a scalp laceration.

Police arrested a woman who gave her name as Miss Doris L. Rue, 31, and said she was an employee of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Paul Wenzel, chief of detectives, quoted Miss L. Rue as saying she had hurled the five-pound metal basket and other objects from her eighteenth floor room "in a spirit of fun." She was held on a disorderly conduct charge pending the outcome of Miss Wilson's injuries.

Police said a bottle, a wooden chair, a heavy phone book and a bedspread also had been hurled from the window. No one else in the crowd of about 1,000 was injured.

Today's Deaths

Mrs. James M. Risey

Mrs. James M. Risey, 70, Madison, former resident of Appleton, died at her home at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon after a lingering illness. She was born July 27, 1870, in the town of Freedom and lived in Appleton before moving to Madison 15 years ago. While here, Mrs. Risey was matron of the Riley Maternity home on E. Washington street. She was a member of the Appleton court of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters.

Surviving are the widow; four daughters, Mrs. Marie Bryce, Miss Liles Riley, Madison; Mrs. Peter Schreier, Appleton; Mrs. D. Kennedy, Grand Rapids, Mich.; two sons, Raymond, Harvey, Madison; two brothers, William Carney, Freedom; James Carney, Kimberly; five sisters, Mrs. Catherine Calnin, Mrs. Curtis Quinn, Appleton; Mrs. Noble Ruth, Milwaukee; Mrs. Roy Rasmussen, Marquette, Mich., and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 9:30 Thursday morning at St. Mary church by the Rev. William H. Grace, the cortege forming at 9 o'clock at Schommer Funeral home. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery. The body may be viewed after 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the funeral home where the rosary will be recited at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Postmaster Ballot Reminds Aliens That They Must Register

Postmaster Stephen Balliet today urged aliens who have not registered to do so immediately at the post office. To date 156 have registered from Appleton and vicinity with 600 or 700 still to do so, Balliet said.

"We would like to complete the alien registration by Dec. 1, before the annual Christmas mailing rush begins," the postmaster said. "Registrations can be taken most conveniently during the morning at the post office."

Every person who is not a United States citizen must register. Failure to do so may mean a fine of $1,000 or a prison sentence of six months or both.

Schools to Aid In County Dairy Sales Promotion

Program Being Drawn To Stress Importance Of Farm Products

The importance of dairy products will be stressed in Outagamie county schools as part of the 3-day dairy sales promotion event to be held Oct. 17, 18 and 19 in the county.

The program is being sponsored by the Outagamie County Cheese-makers association with the cooperation of J. F. Magnus, county agent; Miss Irene Skutley, home demonstration agent, and the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

W. J. Reynolds of the department of agriculture met with a committee yesterday on the program in the schools. The committee includes Miss Skutley; Magnus; Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools; and Walter Fox, McKinley Junior High school principal.

The importance of dairy products in the five fields of health, science, home economics, social science and economics will be stressed in the schools and details of the program are being outlined this week by the committee.

Special dairy displays will be made during the sales promotion days, and a menu contest for the women also is being planned.

The Weather

Forecast for Wisconsin:

Fair, not so cool northwest and extreme west portions tonight; Wednesday increasing cloudiness, warmer east and south portions, followed by showers northwest and west central portions by night.

General Weather Conditions: Rain has fallen since Monday morning over sections of the Rocky mountains and the central plains states and over portions of the central and south Atlantic coast. However, generally fair weather prevailed this morning over most of the central and eastern portions of the country, except that a blanket of fog covered most of Wisconsin.

The temperature changes during the last 24 hours have been unimportant. Rather mild weather continued this morning over most of the central and western portions of the country.

Fair or partly cloudy weather is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with rising temperature Wednesday.

Temperatures: (Lowest and highest temperatures in 24 hours preceding 9 a. m. today.)

Schenley Expert, Roach Talk At Whisky Dealers Meeting

About 2,000 persons attended a meeting of old Schenley distributors at the Waverly beach ballroom last night.

George W. Hipple, Schenley's national marketing expert, discussed the processes in the making of liquor and showed the care used in manufacturing the product. He explained how the liquor business benefited the nation and urged the tavernkeepers to cooperate with the state beverage tax division in obeying the liquor laws.

John Roach, head of the beverage tax division, was a guest speaker and he discussed state liquor regulations. Copies of the liquor laws which were sponsored by the P. and J. Tobacco company, Appleton, T. and S. company, Oshkosh, and the Eli company, Fond du Lac.

Arthur Koenenman, district manager for Schenley distilleries, also gave a short talk. Max Polinsky, secretary and treasurer of the Klinghoffer Liquor company, Manitowish, acted as master of ceremonies.

Outagamie, Waupaca, Calumet, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties were represented at the meeting. Ely Tannenbaum, head of the Eli company, Fond du Lac; Abe Polinsky, president of the P. and J. Tobacco company; and George W. Hipple, national sales representative of the Schenley company, also were present at the meeting and were introduced to the large gathering.

A hot lunch and refreshments were served at the completion of the speaking program. A special bar and lunch counter, each running the length of the ballroom, were set up for the purpose.

The meeting opened with music by an orchestra which also played for dancing at the close of the formal meeting.

Former Village Head, Girl Killed in Crash

Waukesha — Steward N. Rhue, former Whitefish Bay village trustee, died last night of injuries suffered earlier in the day in an automobile accident near Sussex.

Mary Gute, 11, daughter of Dr. E. B. Gute, health commissioner of Whitefish Bay, was killed outright, and her brother, Daniel, 10, injured. Rhue was driving the children home from the Gute summer home at Lac la Poudre when their automobile collided with another car at the intersection of Silver Spring and Marcy roads.

Fine Remitted

Learn to Serve, Seniors of High School are Told

"Plan your life and learn to serve," Dr. Charles Sanford, guidance expert, told seniors of Appleton High school Monday afternoon. Dr. Sanford will be at the high school all week for consultation with students and instructors. He will address the faculty Tuesday afternoon.

The purpose of high school, Dr. Sanford said, is to raise the standard of living. To derive maximum benefit from high school students should learn to plan their lives and learn to serve.

"A talent must have an outlet or you will reach a point of frustration that will only insure asylums know about," Dr. Sanford warned his audience. "Get a mirror and see yourself as you are," he advised.

Wauwatosa Youth Held In Shooting of Girl

Waukesha — Donald Gersonde, 17-year-old Wauwatosa High school student, was held in the county jail today pending an investigation of the shooting of his companion, Betty Bessingham, 18, near Little Muskego lake Sunday.

Miss Bessingham, who lives in Indianapolis, Ind., was visiting relatives in Wauwatosa. Shot in the chest, she remained in a critical condition at Milwaukee county hospital. Gersonde told District Attorney Scott Lowry that he stopped the automobile for target practice, "but I don't know how Betty got hurt."

Lowry said the youth told him he and Miss Bessingham planned to drive to Crown Point, Ind., to be married, but didn't have enough money. Afraid to go home, the couple drove aimlessly for two days, Lowry said.

STOMACH TROUBLE

"I don't see how Chiropractic could benefit my stomach trouble." This opinion of a friend the other day probably represents the idea of many who suffer stomach ailments, and who have never considered what an important part the nervous system plays in stomach health. When we asked our friend what would happen to his stomach should the nerves leading to it be suddenly severed, he was quick to understand that it would be paralyzed and would not function. Then we suggested putting a heavy pressure on the same nerves — what would be the result? It had never occurred to him that in this manner the cause of most chronic ailments had its origin. When a stomach is weakened by a lack of normal nerve energy, most any type of stomach disease can begin to develop. Different habits and diets will produce different types of stomach disease but the cause can be the same. First of all a stomach must weaken in its general vitality before any disease can gain headway. Vitality is supplied by nerves, and so it is possible for Chiropractors to produce results in stomach trouble that have been impossible by other methods of healing.

Jaces Approve Committee List For New Year

Vote to Enter Two Bowling Teams in Fraternal Circuit

The board of directors of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce last night decided to enter two bowling teams in the Fraternal Bowling league, approved applications for membership and approved committee appointments for the year.

The new members will be initiated at 6:30 Monday evening at the Conway hotel. Dr. R. V. Landis will show movies on ducks and M. Owe will entertain on the piano. The new members are Kenneth "Pettigrew," Robert Vandehey, Robert E. Meyers, Charles Herzog, Thomas Beck, Roland Kuckuk, Robert Ludes and Clarence Butenhoff.

Following are the new committees: Americanism, Cyril D. Fox, Thomas W. Beck, Roland Kuckuk, Roy McNeil; aviation, Arthur J. Hagen, Ralph Hamilton, Willard Kling, Herbert Wichman; Christmas activities, G. J. Harder, Al Kopulos, Robert Klimko, Sylvester Peotter; civic cooperatives, E. A. Stecker, H. Williamsen, Clarence Schafer.

Pastor Says Congregations Should Not Have Recall Right

Milwaukee — The Rev. Clemens Zeidler, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, Appleton, declared yesterday that congregations should not have the right to recall and dismiss pastors.

In an address before the seventy-fifth convention of the Wisconsin Conference of the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest, Zeidler said:

"To place the privilege of recall with the congregation is to deny the divine call to the ministry and reduce it to a material contract between men, and reduce the preacher to a hireling more interested in the fleece than in the flock."

Zeidler was discussing a proposal which would allow a congregation to terminate the tenure of its pastor after consultation with the synod president and a two-thirds vote of the congregation.

Under present church regulations, a pastor may not be dismissed except for immorality or for preaching contrary to church beliefs and doctrines.

Edward Flug, Kenosha, was elected vice president of the Southeastern district, Wisconsin Conference brotherhood.

Other vice presidents, all re-elected, were Walter E. Westphal, Milwaukee, Milwaukee district; Roy Miller, Oshkosh, Fox River Valley district; James Miller, Beloit, Southern district; and Arnold Roue, Horton, Central district.

Robert Bassett, Green Bay attorney, spoke about the Republican candidate for president, Wendell L. Willkie, at a meeting of the Outagamie County Willkie for President club last night at the Conway hotel.

Bassett was a member of the Wisconsin delegation that met Willkie at Freeport, Ill., on his way to Madison last Friday.

The club made plans for ward organization. About 125 persons attended the meeting. The next session will be held at 7:45 next Monday evening at the Conway hotel.

Personnel, Max Kneip, H. Williamsen, Edward Brucks, George Teicher; public health, Dr. L. L. Neville, Ralph H. Murphy; publicity, Wilmer E. Franck; safety, George Teicher, A. G. Anderson, Everett E. Draeger, Dave Miringoff, Earl C. Strope; social, Harold Van Bussum, Wilmer E. Franck, Clarence Miller, Urban Marr, Lothar Kemp.

Sports, William E. Elias, Max Kneip, Robert Rule, Chester Thiede; trade promotion, Orville Mysc, Kenneth Pettigrew, Harold Finger, Harvey Sackett; Wee Wee, Jack Notebaart, Ralph Bohl, Frank Polzin, Kenneth O'Gorman; welcoming committee, Wilmer O. Gruett.

Fog Hampers Duck Hunters

Visibility Reduced; Warmer Tonight and Cloudy Tomorrow

A heavy fog rolled into Appleton and vicinity last night and shrouded the countryside this morning, reducing visibility for the hundreds of nimrods that initiated the duck hunting season today. Some of the hunters reported that the ducks were kept down low, making good targets, while others declared that they could hear the birds but couldn't see 'em.

Warmer weather is forecast tonight with increasing cloudiness Wednesday.

Maximum and minimum temperatures during the 24-hour period preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 66 degrees at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 45 degrees at 3 o'clock this morning, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building registered 67 degrees early this afternoon.

Highest and lowest temperatures in the nation yesterday as reported by official weather bureau stations were 95 degrees at Phoenix, Ariz., and 33 degrees at Syracuse, N. Y., according to the Associated Press.

Johnson Warns Against U. S. Bluffing Itself Out on a Limb

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

New York City—This comment column business, when it touches foreign affairs is getting to be pretty tough. I believe in total defense. I didn't recently begin to believe in that. I have been preaching it since the day this column started in predictions, as accurate as any, or just why we were going to need it and long before the government bestirred itself to implement its constantly growing aggressive attitude to make its fighting words seem more than bluff. Nobody can justly call the five year urging of this column "appeasement."

The difference between that urging and what is going on today is that what I advocated was armament to keep us out of war. There is a good deal of evidence—and it is growing—that strong influences in this country and perhaps even the government itself—regard this belated and, therefore, unplanned and somewhat panicky armament conference as preparation for participation in war.

Our previous unimplemented fighting talk, because it was not backed by armament was, as I have said, necessarily bluff. In this gangster world bluffs aren't healthy—especially when you haven't even got a gun, much less a loaded gun. Furthermore, bluffs come home to roost. Ours are coming now. Japan's marriage to the axis and Germany's use of it as a counter-threat may also be a bluff. But we are in no position to call it by armed action in Asia.

In such a situation of bluff and counter-bluff, in which your own country is involved, any true and realistic comment on actual military conditions not designed to bolster any American bluff is branded as "appeasement." If matters get much hotter it will soon be branded as treason.

I earnestly believe that this country doesn't want to go to war. I am confident that, if it arms itself, it does not need to go to war. I am very sure that if it does go to war we shall have seen the last of both our democratic political system and our economic system of free enterprise as it was bequeathed to us by the men of 1776 who invented it.

Hitler Would Favor 3rd Term For Roosevelt

Lawrence Says German Fuehrer Has Outbluffed President for 2 Years

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—When Henry Wallace, vice presidential nominee, said the other day that Hitler would rejoice if Wilkie were elected, he had only his own guess to go on, but the record shows that if there is any reason by the German Fuehrer over the outcome of the American elections, it will come if President Roosevelt is reelected.

For the fact is Herr Hitler has outbluffed and outmaneuvered Mr. Roosevelt these last two years and is doubtless confident he can do it again. In fact, the neglected state of American defenses is directly due to the fact that Herr Hitler bluffed the president out of taking the advice of the one man in America whose knowledge of defense preparations was based on a first-hand study from the time he was chairman of the war industries board in the last year to the present day, namely, Bernard M. Baruch.

Newspaper clippings will reveal that when Mr. Baruch came back from Europe just after the ill-fated Munich conference and urged that America build up her defenses promptly, it looked for awhile as if the president might take Mr. Baruch's advice. But the Berlin press began a vituperative campaign against Baruch as an "international banker and war-monger" and from that day forward Baruch was side-tracked by the White House.

He comes down every now and then for informal talks with the president, but he has never been given the job he should have had—coordinator of national defense—and his advice has gone unheeded.

More than two years ago, Mr. Baruch, in a series of memoranda addressed to high officials, revealed the state of our neglected defenses and pleaded for speed. Extracts from these documents were first published in "The United States News" on May 17 last, just after Holland and Belgium were invaded, but they become more pertinent now that America faces a perilous situation with a minimum amount of preparation.

On April 29, 1938, Mr. Baruch's memorandum says: "The increased British budget shows that England has neglected for years to keep up her armaments and had to do in a short time, and therefore in an expensive manner, what is demanded in the present circumstances. Doubtless Hitler's and Mussolini's demands were met because England and France were not ready. You are aware of the condition of the American navy and of the army. Everyone knows what it is, except the American people, for surely the foreign governments know."

"I do not know whether the special machinery that is necessary for making powder has been bought. That should be top priority. Next should be the shortage in anti-aircraft and anti-tank and semi-automatic shoulder rifles, with a reserve of special machinery. Then airplanes and more airplanes."

Hitler has banked on these shortages, many of which still exist. After Munich, Mr. Baruch on his return from Europe addressed another memorandum to high officials in Washington, dated Oct. 11, 1938:

German Strength
"Two things stand out in the European crisis: (1) That Germany outmaneuvered the others in detaching Poland from a possible alliance against her. (2) And more important, England was tragically unprepared. Her navy would have, been of no use except as a blockade. Aside from the fleet, everything else favored Germany tremendously. There is no doubt about her numerical superiority in the air as opposed to all the others."

"Any nation which gains supremacy in the air and can keep it places the other nations at a disadvantage because it would be impossible to build either airplanes or defenses when the factories are subject to constant raiding by a superior air force. Germany and Italy have received recognition of their power. It will take a long time to overcome this."

Then in the same memorandum, Mr. Baruch pleaded again: "The condition of American defenses is unknown only to Americans. Every foreign power knows exactly what we are doing and what we lack. While Germany has been arming, she also has been busy spreading her ideologies among the nations of the world, sending her armaments and soldiers to inculcate her ideas and her discipline, and penetrating economically each and every country with her economic overtures. Is there any lesson for America in all this?"

The advice given by Mr. Baruch in this same memorandum of October 1938 was this:

"If the other countries endeavor to undermine us, we must meet that. No self-sufficiency or pride of position is going to help us. We already see the result in England and France, both of which have sunk from the level of first-rate power to second-rate power, and, in the case of France, perhaps to the level of a third-rate power."

"With Italy undermining France and England in western Asia and Africa, with Japan active in eastern Asia and with all three of them active in the Americas, it behooves us to sit up and take notice. The first thing to do is to prepare our defenses. He have not an adequate defense against any such combination as can readily face us."

It seems incredible that these prophetic lines were written two years ago when there was an opportunity for America to start at full speed on an industrial defense program that would have enabled us to play a decisive role in world affairs today. It was to Herr Hitler's interest to scare off such able advisers as Baruch, and he managed to do so. For, notwithstanding great friendship for Mr. Baruch, his plans and advice have not been heeded and he stands out today as did Winston Churchill in England as the man who in vain forewarned his country.

The pity of it is that Mr. Baruch, with characteristic modesty, never gave his views to the public. Indeed the memoranda above were not made available at his initiative, though they represent a devastating indictment of the incompetence of the present administration and raise the question of whether America in the next two years under the same leadership can expect any better results than it was able to get in the last two years.

Senator LaFollette
Becomes a Trailer

Senator LaFollette's privilege of voting for Mr. Roosevelt is identical with the privilege of each one of us, but he has no privilege of leading Progressives, who were always practical liberals, into the camp of a balm soap bubble blower who calls himself "The Great I Am."

There is soup that has a body to it and there is soup as thin as dish water. Senator LaFollette's opposition to a breach of the Third Term tradition is in the latter class. He was like a wild mustang on the range in fear that Mr. Coolidge might soil the tradition in 1928 but while Mr. Roosevelt has been choking the country into submission our noble senator never said a word against a Roosevelt third term until yesterday, two months after the nomination, while Senator Norris who may be forgiven because of his age was actually calling for a third term and begging for war, Norris, whose greatest single distinction was his vote against war in 1917.

So have the Progressives fallen. So have their lights become dimmed in the face of this leadership. At least let them never rub salt into public wounds by ever talking again about "principle." Instead, let them be candid enough to adopt as the Progressive emblem, instead of the elephant and the donkey, the tomat which has no principle.

Nor should Senator LaFollette beguile himself with any idea that the Roosevelt and Willkie policies are identical in respect to foreign relations. If he would take time to read Mr. Willkie's criticism of the 50 destroyer deal he would discover the distinction staring him in the face.

Neither is the course he follows softened any by his traditional opposition to war. If he wants to vote for a president whom he has directly accused of walking the old paths of 1917 let us be spared the jollying about his opposition to war. In a democracy you oppose war by fighting all the instrumentalities that are going warward.

Are the liberals to swallow up the Progressives? Are the spouters to displace the workers? Are the cockeyed spenders to absorb the builders? The answer is in the affirmative unless the Progressives can obtain some more sturdy realistic and stubborn leadership than is presented by Senator LaFollette. From the day the senator voted to put a member of a criminal organization on the supreme bench, from the day he voted to prevent the opposition from having 48 hours to expose the criminality, the process of absorption has been under way, accompanied by entertainment and flattery.

It has produced the same sort of enticing flower the thistle produces.

The Invitation to Singapore

England has a great sea stronghold at Singapore to which it has invited the American navy.

This is the next step, after the transfer of the 50 cruisers, upon England's determination to take us into war.

Singapore's importance lies in the fact that it commands the sea routes from the Indian into the Pacific oceans and that it is but a short distance from the fabulously rich East Indies which are owned by Holland. Many Americans do not appreciate that the Dutch East Indies are about half the size in area of continental United States and contain 60 million people, and the fertility to support them.

But what are the plans of our government in respect to this invitation? And what is our attitude regarding the lands in far away Asia?

The administration was in favor of casting the Philippines adrift in 1946. Surely if that is our plan we have no need of permanent naval bases within the shadows of the Asian continent.

But let us take a look around at the Singapore to which we are invited. The beaches of Singapore Island, which is about 27 by 14 miles, are covered with barbed wire entanglements supported by concrete machine gun nests, and all heavily mined. Airplane stations contain about a thousand bombers and pursuit planes whereas Mount Faber, a strategic point near the city of Singapore, is alive with 15 and 18 inch shore batteries capable of hurling ton shells 20 to 30 miles. Within the last year Britain has carefully concealed on scores of little islands in Singapore harbor anti-aircraft batteries whereas great oil storage tanks planted carefully underground are kept filled with sufficient fuel to operate a considerable navy for more than a year.

Our invitation to Singapore is an invitation to "toil and tears," a request to help England defend her greatest bastion in the Pacific.

Certainly our marvellous planners at Washington, who always claim the ability to plan out anything in perfect fashion, will not long keep us in the dark concerning their plans in respect to England's invitation.

Hail to Rhode Island

Rhode Island is our littlest but Oh My! The Gallup poll shows that Rhode Island leads the nation in the percentage of its people who class themselves as independents and swear they are not roped up to any political chariot. When only five per cent of the Okies say they are independent and 41 per cent of the Rhode Islanders so classify themselves you have as marked a difference between people as is evident when comparing Cecil Wetzel, the slugging kidnaper catcher of California, with a sleephead.

But Rhode Islanders were always that way, always biting the dollar to see if it were genuine, with their ears back and a skeptical look in their eyes when they listened to the horse trader's statements.

Away back there in 1789 Rhode Island was the very last state to ratify the constitution. She was cautious and suspicious. The size of New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia, terrified her. What were these fellows up to anyway, she inquired.

And then for 100 years the smallest state in the union maintained two state capitals because each half just insisted on its "rights." When World war No. 1 brought us that exhibition of frenzied emotionalism called Prohibition it wasn't Wisconsin, as one might suppose, which refused to ratify. It was Rhode Island. Standing all alone, buffeted by sleet and tempest, denounced by Prohibition leaders than which there were never any better denouncers, Rhode Island maintained that she still resented this restriction on her liberty, was convinced that it could not be made to work and would not be made a fool of just because the rest of the states were.

So now the little state again sets a shining example for the nation. She is blessedly and gloriously independent. She isn't going to vote for a Republican just because the martyred Lincoln was a Republican. And she isn't going to vote for a Democrat just because the manly and courageous Cleveland was a Democrat.

No hornsogwoggling with Rhode Island. No gush and twaddle. She is fingering the goods to see if they are really all wool.

The nation should salute her and follow her example.

Is Our Army Command
Loose or Incompetent?

The military rank so generously doled out to the President's two sons is a much greater reflection upon the army command than the young men who received distinctions they never earned.

When gold or blood or power swaggers in to influence the army you not only have a sure sign of decay but the first promise of positive defeat.

For the army is an institution that cannot stand favoritism. It must be built upon honor and worth. And when it is built on anything else all is lost.

The general officers who are directly responsible for the commissions issued to the young Roosevelts are subject to the orders of the President who is their Commander-in-chief. As the army expands promotions must be made amongst them. They use their power to confer a safe position on the Roosevelts hoping they will not be forgotten when the President signs promotions.

That is the whole proposition in a nutshell. It is just that raw.

It is not so much that the President talks about democracy, equality and all that sort of stuff while there is no democracy or equality in respect to our royal blood. The point is that atrophy has already set in to an army that deals out its favors like a professional flit.

THOUGHTS OF GRANDMOTHER

"Where there's heart room, there is house room."
Grandmother used to say.
Perhaps that is the reason why
Her home was always gay.
Young laughter filled the sunlit rooms,
And life seemed free from care.
When from the town the children came
To spend the summer there.

We often think of Grandmother
And all her kindly ways;
Her sympathetic loving hands,
Her understanding gaze.
We can recall so many deeds
Revealing her kind heart,
For we have learned to comprehend
Days lived with simple art.

She never made a crunchy batch
Of cookies unless she
Would cut a golden piece of dough,
And fashion it for me
Into a cat with raisin eyes,
Or some fantastic toy.
She never kept the cookie jar
Away from girl or boy.

But purposely she set it low
Upon the pantry shelf,
Where any hungry child could come
And freely help himself.
How eloquently these small things

The DAILY WASHINGTON
MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Elwood, Ind.—This pleasant little town, where Wendell Willkie was born and where he accepted the Republican nomination for president, has a painful headache.

The folks ruefully call it "Willkie Day hang-over" and blame it on red-haired, bustling Homer Capehart, straw boss of the notification ceremony. The wealthy musical instrument manufacturer, who two years ago staged the famed grass roots conference, sold the townspeople on the idea that a golden harvest awaited them.

The tens of thousands of visitors which he promised came, but they didn't spend, and the only harvest Elwood reaped was a flock of unpaid bills.

Capehart was irresistibly persuasive. "If you folks have any get up," he prodded them, "you can make yourselves some real money. There will be a half million visitors here, so don't be afraid to spend a little getting ready for them. The way to make money is to spend some. If you've ordered ten thousand buns, double it. You'll get your profit in volume."

Elwood took this advice to heart. Buns, bread, hot dogs, hamburgers, pies, melons, soft drinks and ice cream were ordered by the mountain load. There were enough edibles for a half dozen armies.

The armies came, but they didn't eat. What happened was that the visitors who traveled by train ate on the train, and those who drove to Elwood either brought their lunches or ate somewhere else. The Republican National committee had a contract with the Robertson Catering Co. to supply all persons coming on the special trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad with one meal on the train and a box lunch in Elwood.

BILLS, BILLS, BILLS
Capehart left town after the notification, and Elwood was left holding the bag. With thousands of dollars of unpaid bills, the Elwood Notification committee has only $13 in the treasury. Glenn Hills, wealthy Kokomo attorney and GOP nominee for governor, contributed $5,000 to pay the most pressing bills.

Largest unpaid accounts are owed to an Indianapolis decorating firm, which has placed its bill in the hands of an attorney; to an Elwood Electric company, which is talking of legal action; to an Elwood five-and-ten-cent store; and to a balloon company in northern Indiana.

Among the loudest complainers are unpaid laborers and special policemen. One special policeman, Leslie Stone, finally got the $18 owed him when he told harassed Mayor G. M. Bonham he had joined the navy and needed the money before he left home.

Ray Snipes, an unemployed WPA worker with five children in school, hasn't been so lucky. He still is waiting for the $8 he claims is due him. Snipes write Willkie in Rushville, but hasn't received an answer yet.

Louis Moschell, 62-year-old jobless, estimates the loss of himself and his brother-in-law at $500. They were left with 350 pounds of hamburger, 9,000 buns, 200 pounds of Coney Island sandwich supplies, and 1,500 bottles of milk. Moschell paid his bills by borrowing $120 on a 90-day note from the local bank.

He feels that Capehart or the Republican organization ought to reimburse Elwoodians for their losses, and there is talk of getting up a petition to demand this.

The Braun Bottling company estimates its losses from $800 to $1,000. The firm employed 1,000 cases of a specially-prepared "Willkie Day" souvenir drink into the sewers. The owners of the Willkie birthplace painted the house and placed a tarpaulin on the floor so visitors could be shown through at 20 cents a head. They took in approximately $12.50.

BRIGHT SPOTS
Before Willkie left Rushville, a committee from the Elks Lodge interviewed the nominee and told him of his home town's economic plight. He was very sympathetic and promised that if elected he would locate some defense industries there.

The city needs it. The industries which years ago made it one of the most prosperous in Indiana moved away when the natural gas played out. One of the last of the local plants is having its own slump, too. The Monticello Manufacturing Co., which produces the Willkie "Hope of Our Nation" auto tags, is laying off men.

Several of the laid-off workers dropped into the Democratic headquarters the other day to see if they couldn't stir up some orders for Roosevelt tags. The Democrats shook their heads sadly. "We'd like to," they said, "but we haven't got any money."

Note—For Tony Shaffer, alert farmer near Elwood, the doleful hangover was a ten-strike. He hauled surplus bread and buns from Callo-way Park for two weeks to feed his stock. Shaffer paid 20 cents a thousand—until he found he could take them for nothing.

NAVY BOUND

Washington—U. S. Coast Guardsmen may soon be singing, "We're in the Navy now..."

The Coast Guard was incorporated into the navy during the World war, but after the armistice was returned to its independent status as a treasury agency. During the government reorganization in 1939, the navy made undercover efforts to absorb the Coast Guard, but the potent influence of Secretary Morgenthau and Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche, popular CG Commandant, stood in the way.

With the army and navy being expanded, the plan has been revived and the inside word is that the transfer will be ordered shortly.

Meanwhile, Coast Guard facilities already are being drafted for navy use. Nothing has been said about it publicly, but those two destroyers that were recalled from Lisbon, because of their similarity to the fifty turned over to the British, are being replaced by Coast Guard cutters. These ships, painted white instead of the Navy's battle-gray, are equipped with larger guns than the over-age destroyers.

Also, Coast Guard cutters are participating in the navy patrol off the coast of Greenland, and the CG depot at Curtis Bay, Md., recently was pressed into service for the overhauling of two navy destroyers. Eight more are scheduled to be sent there for repairs.

Note—The Coast Guard is older than the Navy, having been founded in 1790. It has its own academy at New London, Conn.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT
Washington—Answering the mail orders:

M. G. Columbus, O.—You'll have to take up your problem of rising prices with "Aunt Hit," but if you are less familiar, with Dean Harriet Elliott than I am (which is knowing her hardly at all) you had better not address her that way. Prices are up here in Washington, too.

Government officials aren't worried yet and although sturdy, round-faced Defense Commissioner Elliott has been busier than an ice cream merchant in mid-August, she hasn't (so far as I know) had to put the screws down on anybody yet.

What the administration and Miss Elliott figure so far is that the upcoming prices are merely a reflection of, improved industrial conditions. However, if you feel differently about it, write Aunt Hit a letter, in care of the Defense Commission, 20th and Constitution Ave.

I'll guarantee that if you have a legitimate cause, you won't get ignored. "Aunt Hit" is so darned busy NOT ignoring people that she has had to cancel her three-times-a-week golf game and give up swimming. For the former Dean of Women at North Carolina U., that's a heap of being busy.

L. D. N., Portland, Me.—I don't want to make any enemies up there, but to be honest I think opinion here is about 50-50 on that "As Maine goes" business.

As nearly as I can get it, the whole thing started back in Lincoln's time and, because it held true for a while, became something of a political adage. However, political wisecracks here say that Maine is not even typical and that if you want to get the true pulse of voting trends, you should go out to—well, say some county in Iowa or Nebraska. Louis Bean, the Department of Agriculture statistician, who is, up to now, one of the best election guessers in these parts, also subscribes to this theory.

K. D., Poplarville, Miss.—I have a column coming up shortly on the defense program, but I'll give you the lead on it now. I think the more serious bottlenecks are being broken out.

The situation is changing so rapidly that this might not hold true until tomorrow. What some of the commentators seem to have overlooked is that although we, in this country, are not getting orders as fast as we might, England is getting deliveries about as fast as our present industrial set-up can come across. Those who subscribe to the theory that our first line of defense is in the British Isles think this is perfect.

I have one semi-authentic estimate that the Britishers now have more than $2,000,000,000 in supplies on order in this country. The folks who think this is right point out that if England should be wiped out suddenly, we could take over these orders.

Just a Step
Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Colonel "Lew" Hershey, a former Indiana schoolmaster who joined the state militia, served in two wars and liked the army so well that he stayed in it, will be temporary director of the draft, and my hunch is that it will be permanent.

A fellow who just drops into a state armory for a visit and spends the rest of his life in the service just ain't the "temporary" type.

Lew joined the Indiana militia in the Mexican border row to chase Villa. He tried to be a doctor of philosophy after that, but the World War found him in France. I guess he decided wars were interfering too much with his civil life, so when peace came he got a commission in the regular army. He must be a man of foresight.

As a fellow who's been through the mill and seen service from all the angles he ought to be a good man to get fair play in the draft and see that it ain't made up of too many captains.

The World series starts tomorrow—unless some new turn in the axis interferes.

It's Odd
But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

New York—Persons who say they are exquisitely sensitive to pain, or that they are average or very insensitive, are only talking about a state of mind and nerves. They are mistaken in belief that their bodies are more or less susceptible to pain than other persons.

Scientific tests on 150 persons which show this are reported in the journal Science by George heat striking a small area on the forehead. The human guinea pigs all gave their opinions of how much hurt. Some were sure they felt the slightest burn, others that they were pretty tough customers.

The instruments, which recorded the amount of heat that caused pain to each person, however, told a different story. The painful heat was always so nearly the same that the slight differences had no meaning.

There was no practical difference between men and women. These experiments measured the "pain threshold," that is the amount of pain that a person could just recognize.

Let's Hope the Anchors Hold

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—There will be a great deal of argument over the point that Governor Julius P. Heil, leader of the Wisconsin Republican party, was snubbed when Wendell Willkie, head of the national organization, paid Wisconsin what will probably be his only campaign visit last week.

The partisan opposition is making the most of the fact that those who arranged the fieldhouse meeting last Friday evening got Dean Chris L. Christensen of the college of agriculture, who has no particular standing in state Republican politics, to make the introductory speech, while the governor could find nothing more to do than to sit beside Mrs. Willkie and to retrieve her roses when they fell to the floor.

Whatever that story may be, however, there can be no doubt of what happened on the train as it chugged into Madison that day, about the little impromptu lecture which the governor delivered to Willkie on the subject of trade reciprocity. Willkie was wrong on reciprocal tariffs, if he expected to make a dent in the Wisconsin farm vote, the governor announced.

That somewhat unusual proceeding alarmed some of the Republican politicians who witnessed it when they saw several newspapers present taking notes on the governor's speech.

They quickly announced, quite without authority, that the governor's words were "off the record," that is were not to be published. The newspapersmen as promptly replied that no proceeding of that consequence, taking place before half a hundred people, could be "off the record," and the details were published anyway.

OTHER CASES
The fact that Willkie did not reply to the governor's suggestions may mean either that he didn't put a very high value upon them, or that he didn't have time. It was noticed pretty generally, however, that the candidate said nothing about reciprocal trade problems in his fieldhouse speech that evening.

Of course such small incidents can easily be exaggerated out of their true importance, but it is interesting to notice that it is not the first time that Willkie and Wisconsin Republican leaders have disagreed.

Willkie, for example, supported the conscription bill, now law. But every Republican candidate for the senate in Wisconsin in the recent primary opposed the conscription bill publicly, loudly, and frequently on the campaign platform. And today Fred Clausen the senate nominee who occupied the platform with Willkie during his Wisconsin appearance, continues to speak of the conscription program in the most critical terms.

BACKGROUND
It serves to illustrate that Willkie and the Wisconsin Republican party have never really got acquainted, recalls that his nomination at Philadelphia was achieved without even a gesture of assistance from the Wisconsin delegation, or the Wisconsin Republican party, which was pretty solidly convinced of the merits of three other candidates, Dewey, Taft and Vandenberg.

Note: The magnanimous introductory speech of Dean Chris L. Christensen at the Madison Willkie meeting has already brought about talk of Christensen as secretary of agriculture in the Willkie cabinet to be.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

FOR OILY SKIN

In an earlier talk the use of soap and water, alcohol or alcoholic lotions such as cologne water or other alcoholic toilet water or so-called witch hazel extract, and benzine or carbon tetrachloride for removing the oil or grease was described.

Experience of countless physicians specializing in skin and scalp diseases has shown that the most satisfactory remedies for excessive oiliness are sulfur and salicylic acid or resorcin. Resorcin is perhaps slightly preferable to salicylic acid, although their action is similar. But for use on the scalp resorcin has one drawback in some instances—it may in time stain white, gray or blond hair a yellowish red. The stain disappears eventually, as does dye, if the resorcin is no longer applied.

The choice of sulfur salicylic acid recipes for application to the scalp or the skin of the face is a pomade or ointment prepared after this recipe (from Care of the Hair and Control of Dandruff—pamphlet sent on request if you inclose stamped envelope bearing your address):

Precipitated sulfur (milk of sulfur) . . . 1 dram (teaspoonful)
Salicylic acid . . . 20 grains (1-3 tsp)
Ointment of Rose Water (cold cream) . . . 1 ounce
When thoroughly mixed the pomade is perfectly smooth and no particle can be felt between thumb and finger.

The pomade is most efficacious when applied very sparingly to a different portion of scalp or skin each night six nights in the week for several weeks.

Vitaminex solution, made by boiling together unslaked lime, sublimed sulfur (flowers of sulfur) and water, with frequent stirring until the mixture boils down to nearly one-half, is used as a lotion on the excessively oily skin, generally diluted with eight times its volume of water. It is made with one-half ounce (tablespoonful) of unslaked lime, one ounce (two tablespoons) of flowers of sulfur, ten ounces of distilled water or rain water.

Another lotion, especially helpful for correcting oiliness, shininess and perhaps redness about the nose and cheeks or forehead is White Lotion, prepared by dissolving one dram (teaspoonful) of zinc sulfate, two or three tablespoons of distilled or rain water, and dissolving separately one dram of sulfurated polish in three or four tablespoons of water, slowly pouring

LaFollette 3rd Term Stand Is Topic at Parley

Atmosphere Is Only Slightly Clarified
By Lukewarm Approval

Madison—(P)—Republican assertions that Governor Heil has conducted an "economy" administration are "false claims" and will be repudiated, Jack K. Kyle, chairman of the Progressive state central committee declared today.

Kyle addressed the Progressive party platform convention which elected Paul R. Alfonsi, of Pence, permanent chairman, and Andrew J. Biemiller, of Milwaukee, permanent secretary. Both Alfonsi and Biemiller, who were Progressive leaders in the assembly during the 1939 session of the legislature were chosen unanimously.

Describing Republican platform pledges as "good as new because they never have been used," Kyle listed arguments which he said would refute all economy claims.

He said Governor Heil's budget and the 1939 legislative appropriation were the largest in the state's history and that the administration had admitted it would end the 1940-41 fiscal year with a $12,000,000 deficit.

At 12:35 p. m. the convention adjourned for an hour and a half to allow congressional district caucuses to choose candidates for the important platform committee and decide upon a choice for chairman of the state central committee.

Madison—In an atmosphere only slightly clarified by Senator LaFollette's delayed and lukewarm endorsement of President Roosevelt, New Deal Democrats and Progressives informally discussed the complications of their campaign against the Republicans as candidates of all parties met here today for the biennial platform conventions.

Biggest topic of conversation among the politicians was the senator's qualified statement issued late yesterday endorsing the president.

Politicians wondered how LaFollette's statement will be reconciled with the New Deal Democrats who admit that they will not support James E. Fannegan, the anti-New Deal Democratic senate nominee, but who have publicly prescribed LaFollette's "unequivocal" support of the president as the price of their support of his campaign for reelection.

Britain Maps New Defense Against Foe

fighter planes high over the bursting shells, kept most of the raiders back from the central city, the British reported.

Although defense patrols of fighter planes have been used seldom at night and hardly at all recently, in conjunction with the anti-aircraft, informed quarters said there was no indication they formed the new defense being developed.

Offensive squadrons of the Royal Air Force struck again at Berlin, German industrial sections and the "invasion ports." The flash of bomb explosions across the strait of Dover flowed red through the mist and the shock of blasts on the French coast 20 miles away rattled houses along the Kent cliffs.

German gun emplacements at Cape Gris Nez and the port of Calais, still burning with the fires of British long-range gun shelling during the day, were attacked heavily.

On the heels of a removal of trainloads of women and children from the hard-hit poor districts of London came official advice to reduce further the population as much as possible by transfers to the country.

The September estimates of 5,000 killed and 8,000 wounded in the capital indicated a great increase over the August toll, announced officially as 1,075 killed and 1,261 injured.

Asked to quit London, Harry Willink, special commissioner for rehousing the homeless, toured residential sections and said afterward that all those who could leave London should do so.

The London press carried the news of a new defense means under banner headlines.

"We can hope to stop the night raids—official," the Daily Express headline said. The Daily Mail and the Express quoted high official quarters that Britain soon would have "a complete answer to night bombing."

Doesn't Urge Support
In its conclusion he did not urge his Progressive followers to support the president. He said simply that "I shall vote for him."

To those political opponents who have gleefully speculated upon LaFollette's dilemma in view of his anti-third term stand during the Coolidge administration, LaFollette said:

"I have searched my mind and heart. I have not been unmindful of the fact that I sponsored an anti-third term resolution in the days of the false prosperity of President Coolidge. But for myself, choosing between the two present candidates in this critical period I can come to only one conclusion."

Observers have noted recently that although the LaFollette brothers since the presidential campaign began have studiously avoided mention of their new party, the National Progressives of America, they have steadily pounded away at the same arguments which they previously used to predict the growth of a new national political organization.

Same General Tone
His long statement yesterday followed the same general tone. "The tragic lesson of the war is that a nation which fails to put its social and economic and spiritual house in order can be overwhelmed by a nation with a dynamic expanding economy. We must learn that our domestic front is as vital as our military front," he proclaimed.

Progressives wondered today if LaFollette's public support of the president would be reciprocated in Washington, recalling that the last time LaFollette faced the ballot boxes he was warmly endorsed by the president who started the disintegration of the Wisconsin Democratic party which has continued since by publicly praising the Progressive leader in a speech at Green Bay.

Others, taking a practical view of the problem of two "liberal" slates of candidates against the Heil administration, continued to discuss the possibility of agreement and concessions between the Progressive Loomis slate and the state Democratic ticket headed by Francis E. McGovern.

Pegler Tells How Labor Skate Treats Humble Working Stiff

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—I just thought I would give you a little chapter and verse on the relationship between the humble working stiff and the arrogant labor skate.

This one comes from San Francisco:

"Some young people I know were penalized $100 for spending their honeymoon at a nonunion mountain resort. They had struggled to save for a meager honeymoon. They had a long week end, and on returning the musicians' union phoned them and demanded $100. They had paid $100 each to join this union and hold their jobs. They had to borrow money for the fine and the money they had saved for a tiny apartment had to be paid to the union."

In Boston the C.I.O. amalgamated clothing workers voted "unanimously" that 5,000 workers must pay a compulsory "contribution" to President Roosevelt's campaign fund. The men, $1; the women, 50 cents each. This is Sidney Hillman's union, and Mr. Hillman is one of Mr. Roosevelt's important party workers. Membership in the union is not voluntary but compulsory. Resolutions which carry by as little as 51 to 49 commonly are made "unanimous" by motion carried by the same vote. In other words, Willkie voters in Hillman's union must contribute their cash to the campaign fund of their political opponent or lose their right to work under rules enforced by Mr. Roosevelt's labor relations board.

At the New York World's fair 60 ushers and similar employees, drawing from $17 to $35 a week for a season of about 24 weeks, had to join a subsidiary of the George Sealise racket at an initiation fee of $11 each. No increase in wages. No vote. They wanted to refuse, but the racket threatened to picket another attraction owned by the same management. Last year the management paid half of the graft to the racket. As to whether the management paid part of this year's graft my informant doesn't say.

Another from California reports that P. A. Morrin, president of the iron workers, governed by three men in St. Louis, suspended the annual convention and now calls conventions every four years. This is convention year, but Morrin refuses to let the California local hold a meeting, and appoints its own delegates. Morrin picked them, so there is no chance for the California local even to propose a new president. Incidentally, Morrin appointed an admitted crook, a renegade Cincinnati cop named Jack Dempsey, international treasurer of this union, although Dempsey still owes a $1,000 fine in the federal court in Cincinnati for grafting from bootleggers when he was on the police force. He was not elected by the workers. He was appointed by Morrin.

This one is from New York: "I am a retail men's clothing salesman and manager. Ever since I was compelled to join the union I have been unemployed. I was taken off my last job, secured by myself, with these words from the union secretary: 'This job is not yours. This job belongs to the union. It is up to her to decide who is to work there.'"

"I was a member in good standing all paid up. Four dollars per month. Ten dollars each year for assessments and many times a tax as high as $2 per week extra. I have receipts to show."

"When forced to quit my job I couldn't pay. I then got a letter you are summoned to the union office Monday morning to place yourself in good standing. Failure will automatically suspend you."

This, also, from New York: "I am a union carpenter. The building bosses cannot hire the men they want. They have to take most of the men from the delegate. The delegate gives the jobs only to those who pay graft. He admits he gets $10 to $20 from carpenters that made out good. Ninety-five per cent of the men are out of work 40 to 70 per cent of the time. The delegate gets $100 a week pay from the local union."

These are only samples. I have hundreds as bad or worse.

Democrats Pick Cavanaugh As New Badger Chairman

Madison—(P)—James T. Cavanaugh of Amigo was elected permanent chairman, and Anthony P. Gawronski of Milwaukee, permanent secretary of the Democratic party state platform convention here today.

The convention voted to name six persons from each congressional district to the state central committee. Each district previously had four members.

After naming convention committee, the delegates adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Henry V. Schwaibach, vice chairman of the state central committee, presided until the permanent chairman was chosen. State Chairman William D. Carroll of Prairie du Chien was not present.

Required by law to meet in the capitol, the delegates assembled at noon in a hearing room there but, because of inadequate space, immediately moved to a hotel near the capitol.

who were getting their first training in raid tactics.

The "novices" were described as carrying "mostly flares and incendiary leaflets and a small number of explosives, but a larger than usual supply of gasoline to make their return to home bases safer."

"Highly successful" air raids on Britain, particularly London, were reported by the high command.

"Our air force attacked war essential objectives in England by day and night in closed formations and with numerous individual planes," said the high command's report of the preceding 24 hours.

The severest attacks were centered on London as well as the sea region of the British Isles.

It acknowledged "a strong defense of London, but said the raids, especially during the day, were "highly successful."

Listed among the Luftwaffe's hits were: an airport in southern England, an airport, a southeast harbor, a 10,000-ton merchantman sunk off Ireland and a convoy of Scotland dispersed with two ships totalling 10,000 tons afloat.

Nazi long-range guns also shelled ships in Dover harbor "with visible success," the high command said, and submarines were credited with sinking eight British merchant ships totalling 49,760 tons.

Of Britain's air losses, four were chalked up to Nazi night fighter planes and six to anti-aircraft fire, presumably during the raids last night over western Germany and Berlin.

Order Plans Drawn for Garage at Kaukauna

The county highway committee yesterday ordered plans drawn for a new garage to be erected at Kaukauna. Bids will be called for the project soon. The committee allowed bills amounting $9,540.19 for labor and $5,814.75 for materials.

of ammunition because he was ordered to hold his fire unless attacked. This despite the fact, he said, that he saw Japanese moving around the French flanks within easy range.

One of the officers who was in the thick of the Langson fight said that his machine-gunners took a heavy toll of Japanese infantrymen crossing a vital bridge, but that they continued to advance over the piled-up bodies of their comrades.

This officer said the assault on Langson was delivered after the city had been encircled by Japanese units attacking with sub-machine-guns, pistols and bayonets from all directions.

A night attack, he said, caused such confusion that friend and foe alike were mowed by cross-fire.

A Polish medical orderly, member of a French regiment, said that after the French capitulated the Japanese occupied barracks and large buildings and herded their prisoners into heavily-guarded enclosed places where they received one meal of rice daily.

Appleton Dairy Must Answer State Charges

Madison—(P)—The state department of agriculture said today the Quaker Dairy company, of Appleton, had been ordered to show cause in Dane county circuit court Oct. 11 why it should not be restrained from selling milk and cream on the Appleton regulated market.

Verlyn F. Sears, milk control chief, said the company had pending an appeal for restoration of its milk dealers license, which the department revoked last February.

Sears said the firm, meanwhile, had been licensed to manufacture ice cream only.

ARTIST SERIES PERFORMERS—Appleton will be treated to a fare of exquisite music this season, for the Community Artists Series, sponsored by Lawrence college, will bring not only Kirsten Flagstad, upper left, the "first lady" of the opera, but also Erica Morini, upper right, whom critics have classed with Kreisler and Heifetz. Rudolph Serkin, lower left, one of the world's outstanding pianists, and Hertha Glatz, lower right, distinguished contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company, also will appear in the series.

Kirsten Flagstad Tops List Of Artist Series Performers

The season ticket sale for the 1940-41 Community Artist Series opened today. Headed by Kirsten Flagstad, world renowned soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, four individual artists and the popular Lawrence A. Cappella choir will be presented in this year's series of five concerts.

Miss Flagstad will sing at Lawrence Memorial chapel Nov. 15. A month later, Dec. 16, Erica Morini, noted violinist, whose recent tour received unusual attention from the critics, will make one of her few midwest appearances.

Hertha Glatz, young contralto of the Metropolitan, will present a concert Jan. 13, and the Lawrence choir will make its local appearance Feb. 20. The final program will be a concert March 28 by Rudolph Serkin, youthful Austrian pianist, who is now considered one of the top performers of the day.

The series is arranged by the college to bring world-famed artists to the Lawrence campus for the benefit of the students and music lovers of the vicinity.

Season tickets are on sale at Bell's Drug store and are priced six, five and four dollars. Requests already have been received from residents in other parts of the state and Upper Michigan.

Former Coed at College Engaged

Two former Lawrence college students, Miss Joyce Lochen and Eugene H. Krohn, both of Milwaukee, will be married at 7 o'clock the evening of Oct. 19 at Sherman Park Lutheran church, Milwaukee. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Lochen, Milwaukee, and Mr. Krohn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krohn, also of Milwaukee.

Miss Lochen has asked an Alpha Chi Omega sorority sister, Miss Dolly Levett, Chicago, to be her maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Arthur Loos, Chicago, and Miss Jeanette Ingraham, Milwaukee, both of whom attended Lawrence college with her.

Mr. Krohn, who became a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity while at Lawrence, will have his brother, Lee, as best man. Robert Lochen, brother of the bride, Ted Kramer, Stanley Guth and Herbert Brill, Milwaukee, will usher.

Two Brides-to-be Are Entertained at Pre-Nuptial Party

Two October brides, Miss Jeanette Peters, S. State street, who will be married Oct. 12 at Sugar Bush to Orin Hoffman of Sugar Bush, and Miss Margaret Jane Jarchow, W. Prospect avenue, whose marriage to Victor Sonntag will take place Oct. 16, were guests of honor when Mrs. William J. Van Offoren entertained her club friends Monday evening at her home in Little Chute.

Miss Jarchow and Miss Louise Kuehner won the prizes at bridge, and Miss Virginia Brown received another prize. Shoulder corsages were given to the guests of honor, while the other guests received flowers for their wrists.

Those present were the Misses Mary Landreman, Kaukauna, Dorothy Krueger, Bertha Nichols, Virginia Brown, Louise Kuehner, and Mrs. William Marx, Appleton, and the two honored guests, each of whom received a pre-nuptial gift.

Miss Belle Fiedler, N. Leminwah street, was hostess at a dessert-bridge party Monday night at her home in honor of Miss Dorothy Ward, who will become the bride of Eugene Bleick Saturday. Two tables of bridge were in play, the honors going to Miss Annabelle Wolf, Miss Phyllis De Land and Miss Ward. The bride-to-be also received a gift.

Miss Florence McDaniel, whose marriage to William Rohan, Jr., will take place Oct. 22, was honored by the Outagamie county courthouse girls, with whom she works, at a dinner and bridge party Monday night at Butte des Morts Golf club. Honors at bridge went to Miss Jean Voss, Miss Alice Jansen and Miss Marie Ziegenhagen. The guest of honor received a gift.

Wedding Plans are Revealed at Party

The approaching marriage of Miss Irene Collier, Milwaukee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del Collier, New London, was revealed at a miscellaneous shower given in her honor by Miss Georgianna LeBeau at her home at New London Saturday evening. Miss Collier and a friend from Milwaukee, Miss Hazel Behan, visited at New London during the weekend.

Miss Collier will be married Oct. 12 to Marcus W. Schmidt, Moorehead, Minn., son of Mrs. Josephine Schmidt of Sturgeon Bay. The marriage will take place at Moorehead. The bride-to-be was graduated from New London High school in 1934 and a year later went to Milwaukee where she has been employed since with the telephone company. Mr. Schmidt is a seed analyst for a Minnesota seed company.

Seventeen former classmates and friends were entertained by Miss LeBeau and court what was played. Prizes were won by Mrs. William McNeils, Mrs. Earl Collier and Mr. Carl Loberg of Clintonville.

Announcement was made this week of the approaching marriage of Miss LaVerne Knapp, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Knapp, New London, to Kenneth Krueger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Krueger, New London. They will be married Sunday, Oct. 13, at New London.

Miss Knapp graduated from New London High school in 1937 and has been bookkeeper at the Schultz brothers store the last year. Mr. Krueger is employed as a machine operator at the Edison Wood Products plant.

Jews to Begin Observance Of Holy Days

The most important religious season in the Jewish calendar begins tomorrow. Rosh Hashonah which means literally "the beginning of the year" is the first of the Ten Days of Penitence, during which all men are invited to judge themselves as they are being judged by the Deity. The season's climax is reached on the Day of Atonement or Yom Kippur, Oct. 12, when according to tradition the judgment is sealed.

The blowing of the ram's horn which is a part of the colorful service for this holiday symbolizes the calling of Israel to the three-fold duty of penitence, prayer and righteous action.

The new year is regarded as a day of individual self-examination, self-criticism and self-judgment. The universalism of this Jewish holiday is reflected in the fact that Rosh Hashonah is referred to in the prayer book as "The birthday of the world."

Zion congregation of Appleton will hold reform services for Rosh Hashonah at the temple, corner of Durkee and Harris streets, at 7:30 Wednesday evening and again at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Regular Friday night services will be at 7:30. Yom Kippur services will take place at 7:30 Friday night, Oct. 11, 10 o'clock Saturday morning, Oct. 12, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. There will be a memorial service at 3:30 in the afternoon. Rabbi Mortimer Goodman of Cincinnati, Ohio, will be in charge of the services and Miss Maude Harwood is choir director.

Service at Synagogue
Rabbi Ralph De Koven, spiritual leader of Moses Montefiore orthodox congregation, will preach sermons in English at most of the services for Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur. The opening service will be at 5:45 tomorrow evening at the synagogue, and at 7:30 in the evening. Rabbi De Koven will speak on "Looking Forward." Other services will be at 4:30 and 5:45 Thursday afternoon Friday morning at 7:30. There will be a sermon on "The Dawn Comes," and at the first Friday night services for Montefiore congregation at 8 o'clock the sermon will be entitled "If We Had But One More Year." There will be services also at 4:30 in the afternoon. Sabbath services will take place at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Kol Nidre service which marks the beginning of the feast of Yom Kippur will be held at 11 o'clock Friday afternoon, Oct. 11 when Rabbi De Koven will speak on "Facing Reality." Saturday, Oct. 12, will be an all-day observance of the feast beginning with a service at 7:30 in the morning at which the sermon will be entitled "Reconciliation." Another sermon will be given at 3:30 in the afternoon and the feast will close at sundown. The Rev. A. Zussman and N. Wallens will be in charge of all Hebrew services.

Neenah Priming To Stage Upset In Kaukauna Tilt

Rockets Will Play First Home Contest Against NEW Champs

Neenah — Itching all over for a chance to stage the Northeastern Wisconsin conference season's biggest upset right at the outset of the campaign, Coach George Christoph's grid squad began preparations yesterday afternoon for its battle with Kaukauna at the Neenah High school athletic field Saturday afternoon.

It will be the first home game of the season for the Red Rockets, and they will be opposing the toughest eleven in the conference.

Neenah suffered its first setback of the season Saturday when it was defeated, 13 to 7, by Country Day High school at Milwaukee. The Rockets whipped Clintonville in the opening game.

The highly advertised Carl Giordana, fullback, and his teammates are seeking their third straight championship and sixteenth straight victory. The Kaws have crushed two conference opponents already, West DePere and Menasha, both by 25 to 0 counts.

Coach Christoph was disgruntled with his squad's performance during the second half of its last game and after a mild workout Monday afternoon, he is scheduling four days of stiff practice.

The squad will concentrate on correcting the errors which showed up against Country Day and polishing its offensive tactics.

A couple of the gridmen were bruised Saturday but there were no injuries serious enough to keep the boys on the bench.

15,290 Taking Air-Training, CAA Asserts

25,000 Already Have Received 'Wings' Under Program

Washington—Carrying on its pilot training program, which already has given "wings" to 25,000 young men and women, the civil aeronautics administration has enrolled 15,290 students in new courses.

Those courses at colleges and airports throughout the nation will include 72 hours of ground instruction and from 35 to 45 hours in the air—sufficient to qualify students for private pilots' licenses.

"This training program," the CAA said in announcing enrollment for the training period ending Jan. 15, 1941, "has been promulgated not alone to create new pilots, but to give special training to thousands of flight instructors and examiners, and to rehabilitate the latent flying resources of the nation by brushing up and re-certifying thousands of former pilots who had permitted their licenses to lapse."

Nearly 1,000 instructors, the CAA said, took training courses during the summer months, and more than 5,000 former pilots took "refresher courses" in preparation for renewal of certificates.

Need Is Vital
The CAA declared experienced fliers were "vitally needed" because the army and navy and national guard "are calling up reserve officers' leaving 'holes' in civilian flying organizations."

To fill those "holes," students are training at 700 colleges and universities. Among the Wisconsin institutions cooperating in the program, and the number of students enrolled, are:

Beloit college, 20; Stevens Point State Teachers' college, 20; La Crosse State Teachers' college, 10; Marquette university, 40; Milton college, 10; Milwaukee School of Engineering, 10; Northland college, 10; St. Norbert college, 10; Eau Claire State Teachers' college, 10; Carroll college, 10; Oshkosh State Teachers' college, 10; Stout institute, 10; Superior State Teachers' college, 20; University of Wisconsin, 50; University of Wisconsin Extension division, Milwaukee, 40; Whitewater State Teachers' college, 10.

Students to See Cutting From Play

"Prologue to Glory," one of the current series of Lincoln plays and books, will be presented Thursday afternoon at Appleton High school on the first lecture program of the new school year. The cutting which is presented is the collaboration of Edward Rees and Ellen Hogue, who also play the part of Lincoln and Ann Rutledge, respectively.

Scene one of the play is laid in the Offutt store. Young Abe has just "got himself a job" as the assistant and general helper in the village store. He is rather satisfied until chided by Ann. In the second scene Abe has mounted the debate platform to take the side of the ant in the argument "Resolved, That the Bee Is More Useful than the Ant." He startles his friends by announcing his candidacy for a local office. The Rutledge garden is the setting for scene three. Abe discusses his ambitions and the two young people plight a troth that was never consummated.

Also in the cast is Maurice Blythe, a young Chicago actor with several years' experience in city dramatics.

Heil May Make Draft Questions Available

Milwaukee—(P)—Governor Heil today he was considering the advisability of making public in advance the questionnaire which men 21 to 36 years of age will fill out on draft registration day Oct. 6.

"As I understand it," the governor said, "the law allows the governor to use his own judgment as to the mechanics of this thing." The governor explained that he believed time could be saved at the registration booths if the men knew in advance the questions they would be asked.

Heil planned to confer at Madison today with Walter Wilde, of Milwaukee, who has been named as presidential confirmation.

Registration blanks and questionnaires have been sent to the printer, Governor Heil said, and will be ready soon.

Committee Meeting

The license committee of the city council will meet at 7 o'clock Wednesday night in city hall to consider various applications for licenses. The committee will report at a council meeting at 7:30.

Movie Land Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—No one has dared think too much about what the new conscription law may do to Hollywood.

Oh, producers have huddled into groups to multiples about possible loss of talent, and certain authorities have said actors may be excused because "they do more moral good where they are."

But what are Mr. and Mrs. John Public whose menfolk can't escape conscription, going to think of any move to allow actors to do so? What will happen if Uncle Sam draws the numbers of Jimmy Stewart, Wayne Morris, Franchot Tone, Cesar Romero, Tony Martin, Bill Holden?

Will these players seek exemption if they're called? DO THEY DARE? Who will have the nerve to be first to make such a move and thus face a possible barrage of public condemnation that might easily blight his career—even his life?

And look at things from the industry's viewpoint. The law says men will be drafted for one year, after which employers must give them back their jobs. But what about the loss of popularity young actors will sustain within that period? A Jimmy Stewart may be able to stand it, but not many can. How will others regain lost ground and lost opportunities? How can studios abruptly create leading men out of unknowns, to serve in absentee shoes for one year only?

It's all quite complicated. Meanwhile you'd be surprised by the number of producers—the very same producers who one year ago were screaming that matrimony is ruinous to young careers—who are today thanking heaven for the married stars on their contract lists.

IDOL CHATTER: John Barrymore's career seems to have reached the "dough or die" state. Ode to human nature: The ever-present wad of chewing gum under the arm of Virginia Welder's set chair.

Hard to imagine a more laughable sight than Gargantua "Big Boy" Williams ailing gal-friend Lupe's Chihuahua. Warning to Patricia Morison: Slow down—dangerous curves ahead! The success of Sam Goldwyn and Maxie Rosenbloom should console any kid who's criticized for grammatical errors.

People who contend a rite can't be wrong should check Hollywood matrimonial records.

CUFF NOTES: Having used four historic buildings designed by Thomas Jefferson for location scenes, Ed. H. Griffith, megging Par's "Virginia," has asked the Art Directors Association to sanction formal screen credit for the third president.

No one more astounded than Rennie Riano when her 19-year-old daughter sued for divorce—Rennie didn't know she was married. . . . Mrs. Charles (Jackie Cooper's mama) Bigelow is home from the hospital but will be bedded additional weeks. . . . Curt Bois skyrocketing French comic, has been granted final citizenship papers. . . . Postcard from England is word that one of Dottie Lamour's sarongs is now battle flag for a Flight of Hurricanes.

Time out for actor John Sutton, temporarily blinded by ice-glare on the "Hudson's Bay" set.

Most amazing personality on the current Hollywood scene is 80-year-old Adeline de Walt Reynolds, who enrolled in university at 70, graduated at 73, and is now essaying a picture career under the sponsorship of Blanche Yurka. Even Miss Yurka admits inability to keep pace

Zimmerman Tops List in Primary

Madison—(P)—Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman, Republican nominee for reelection, received 272,267 votes in the primary election Sept. 17—more than any other candidate of the state's three political parties.

This was announced by the elections division of the secretary of state's office which disclosed the official vote of candidates for United States senator, governor, and other state offices.

Zimmerman's opponent, State Senator Bernhard Gettelman of Milwaukee, received 82,100 votes.

Best vote-getter in the Progressive party was United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette, candidate for reelection, who received 144,692. He was unopposed for the nomination.

The highest total among the Democrats thus far—the vote for United States senator, being incomplete—was polled by Moreley C. Kelly, candidate for lieutenant governor. Unopposed, Kelly received 199,690.

Governor Heil, Republican nominee for reelection, received 249,269 votes.

Boy Friends' Letters Go Astray Because Girls Have Same Names

By The Associated Press

Fredericksburg, Va.—Winifred L. Watkins of Richmond and Winifred L. Watkins of Birmingham, Mich., are having a tough time as freshmen at Mary Washington college here.

"I've a letter from your boy friend," said the Richmond Miss Watkins to Miss Watkins of Michigan.

"And I've got a letter from your boy friend," replied the latter.

Spokane, Wash.—Marion Hogan peeked out of the elevator he operates, touched the starting handle, and the divided doors snapped on his neck.

For 20 minutes he gaped at a crowd gathered outside while a building engineer climbed into the elevator through a trap door at the top and removed the doors.

Hogan emerged "unhurt but uncomfortable."

Lincoln, Neb.—Judd Woods and Bill Dietz didn't mind so much when the car in front of them struck a skunk, tossing full benefit of the perfume to them. But when they got home:

The garageman refused to store the car until it had been washed.

Woods' dog got under the bed—and stayed.

And Dietz had to sleep in a shed back of his apartment house.

Townsend Meeting

Mrs. James Clemens, Superior will be the speaker at a meeting of the Townsend club at 8 o'clock tonight at the Outagamie county courthouse.

Ladies Aid Groups Will Meet at Dale

Dale—The Lutheran Ladies Aid society will meet Thursday at the church parlors. Mrs. Owen Peterson and Mrs. Arthur Leiby will be hostesses.

The Reformed Ladies Aid society will meet with Mrs. Arthur Berner. St. Joseph's Altar Guild will meet with Mrs. K. Thorn.

The old plank crossing at the intersection of U. S. Highway 10 and the Soo Line has been replaced by blacktop.

Mrs. Arlo Nelson has returned from a 2 months' visit with relatives in Iowa.

The following were entertained at the August Grossman home Saturday evening: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grossman and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Leppia, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kaufman, Miss Marie Leppia and Clarence Daufen of Dale and Mrs. Velma Grossman of Milwaukee.

The Hazy Dazy's club had its first meeting with Mrs. Esther Fergot Wednesday. The club is composed of the girls of the upper grades.

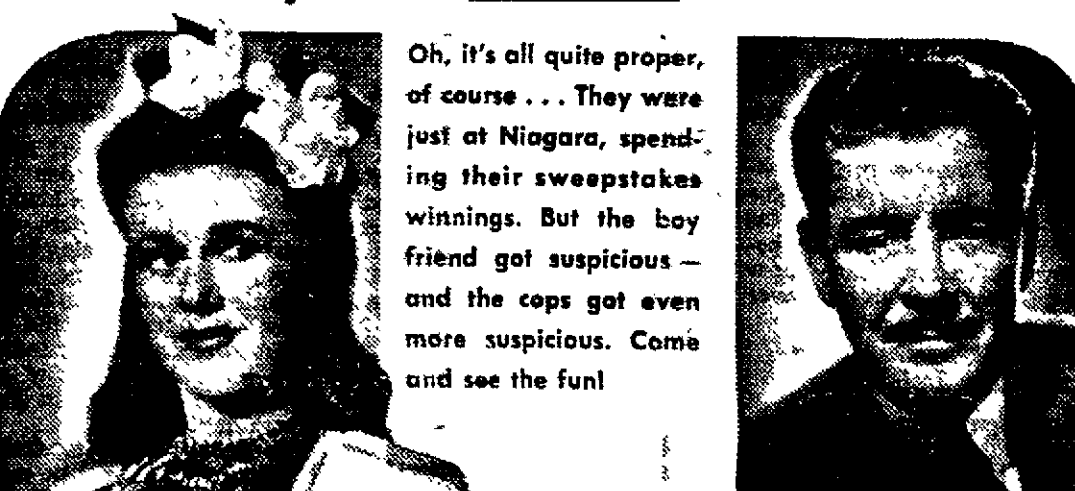

Mrs. Esther Fergot was surprised Sunday by the following relatives: Herman Jennerman and family, Ernest Conrad and family of Hortonville, Mrs. Charles Conrad, William Conrad and family, Walter Conrad of Shiocton; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Becker and Mrs. Clara Vedner of Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. C. Schering, Edwin Worm and family and C. Fredricks and family of New London.

Reds and Tigers Will Show Before 33,000

Louisville Colonels Cop Association Playoff

Louisville—(AP)—The Louisville Colonels, playoff champions of the American Association, made ready today to clash here tomorrow night with Newark of the International league in the little world series.

The Colonels, who finished fourth in seasonal play 19 games behind the leading Kansas City Blues, sunk the Blues here last night 5 to 0 to win the playoff, 4 to 2.

Newark defeated Baltimore 3 to 2 last night to take the International playoff.

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Cincinnati—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds of the National league and the Detroit Tigers of the American, a couple of worthy champions, will pile into each other before a jam-packed crowd of 33,000 at Crosley Field here tomorrow in the opening game of the 1940 world series.

They will battle for two days here, shift to Detroit for three more shots at each other, not stopping for a day of rest, and then roll back here next Monday to settle the argument.

The title is settled by four out of seven, and most of those who follow baseball think the Reds and the Tigers are likely to go the limit. They appear to be evenly matched.

Cincinnati's tight pitching against Detroit's distance hitting. Though it is far from conclusive, the most popular opinion is that the Reds are due to give the National league its first championship since 1904.

Maybe it's sentiment. It is difficult to say why the Reds are a popular choice. Perhaps sentiment has much to do with it. They took a quick, though gallant, beating from the New York Yankees a year ago. They recovered from that licking, which was almost humiliating toward the last, to come back and capture their league bunting again by a margin that left no doubt.

Two National league umpires, encountered in a local hotel lobby last night, reflected the feeling about Manager Bill McKechnie's outfit.

"You're crazy if you bet against those boys," said one, while his companion nodded agreement. They're tough, and I've umpired long enough to know. Maybe they look crippled now, with Lombardi and Frey limping around. Maybe some bookmaker is offering odds against them. But don't let that fool you. These Reds are very hard to beat as long as they have a couple of fellows like Paul Derringer and Eddy Collinsworth serving up that apple."

The Detroiters, still flushed and feeling great from the welcome accorded them by their hometown supporters two nights ago, pulled into town last evening. Both clubs were scheduled to work out at Crosley field this afternoon.

Won't Name Hurlers Neither pilot last night would name his starting pitcher. Manager McKechnie of the Reds said Derringer and Walters would divide the first two games. Every one knew that all along, and the best guess is that Derringer will be wheeling them across for Hank Greenberg and Rudy York and the other Tigers to hit at when the main shooting starts at 12:30 (CST) tomorrow. Pilot Del Baker of the Tigers said it would be either Schoolboy Rowe or Buck Newsom on the hill, and the general opinion was that it would be Newsom.

Otherwise, there was no great conjecture about the world series line-ups. McKechnie said he felt sure Lombardi would start the first game behind the bat for the Reds, but he had no idea how long the big catcher's injured ankle would last.

He was equally unsure about Lonnie Frey's chances of playing out the series at second base with a broken big toe. But he was much more optimistic about winning the series than he was a year ago before his team bucked the Yankees. The Reds, to a man, do not have the same wholesome respect for the Yanks.

Series Notes Cincinnati—(AP)—An attentive worm, wiggling his way through the alpine streets of the queen city of the west, would have the following facts, rumors, and down-right lies to report about a world series which is to be played here starting tomorrow:

The hotels are full of celebrities and ordinary folk that traveling salesmen have to skip the town if they want to sleep. However, for modest sums ranging no higher than $10 for the first two nights, you can rent a room within flying distance of the ball park.

Some day when you have nothing better to do, mail back $300,000 just to see how it hurts. That's what the Reds counting house had to do on ticket applications that came in too late.

At that, though, scalpers profess to have enough tickets to do business and the ball club would like to know how they got them. The internal revenue agents keep an eye out for the government's cut, and the city has a $1,000 license fee as a prerequisite for such doings.

Just so the city fathers don't miss anything, they are holding the regular Wednesday council meeting today.

Check the artillery at the door, please.

Now that we HAVE a GOOD 5¢ CIGAR, What does the country need?

Lyons Versus Passeau In City Series Opener

Chicago—(AP)—Ted Lyons, the "old folks" of the Chicago White Sox staff, takes the mound at Wrigley field today hoping to pick up where he left off a year ago in the city series with the Chicago Cubs.

The 39-year-old Lyons pitched the Sox to victory in the seventh and deciding game of the 1939 series in which the National leaguers had held a 3-1 edge in games.

Lyons' opponent on the mound today was Claude Passeau, who won 20 games for the fifth-place Cubs this season.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES

Friday Night

Grinnell at Drake

Saturday

Beloit at Coe

Carleton at Monmouth

Ripon at Cornell

Knox at Lawrence

Convincing defeats or victories were in evidence during the first week of the Midwest conference football race with the losers in each game being held scoreless. Having the toughest encounter, however, was Coe, who with one victory behind them, met co-champion Ripon in the latter's opener and defeated them before a large crowd at Ingall's field by a score of 7 to 0. It was the first conference defeat for Ripon since the opener a year ago.

The Redmen suffered a severe handicap near the close of the first quarter when their outstanding leader, Sveto Krcmar, was stepped on, a cleat cutting his shoe and injuring his foot. The game was fairly even with neither team inside the other's 20-yard line more than once except for the Krahaw's one touchdown march in the third quarter.

Both teams intercepted twice as many passes as there were completed. In night games Beloit soundly trounced Monmouth for, the latter's second loss and Grinnell beat Lawrence for the Pioneer's first win under their new coach.

The Beloit win by a score of 33 to 0 definitely marks this new team of unknowns as an unexpected threat.

The 13 to 0 beating that Grinnell handed Lawrence at Grinnell was forecast if not by a larger score. It was the opener for both.

This week's program is strictly conference with the exception of some past fueding between Grinnell and Drake. The Pioneers travel to Des Moines for this game Friday night. For the second straight week, Coe will be a party to the standard game, this time with Beloit. This clash between undefeated teams will be on the Coe field. Carleton opens its conference season in the third game but first at home for Monmouth. Knox, the co-champions also opens on the road, traveling to Lawrence, and Cornell makes its stand at home against an infuriated Ripon. Cornell won a non-conference game last week defeating Culver-Stockton, 7 to 6, and Knox took care of Simpson, 21 to 0.

Armstrong's Title Vacated Maryland Commission Acts to End Monopoly Held by New York

Baltimore—(AP)—Asserting that it was "time to stop the tying up of boxers and smath monopolies," the Maryland state boxing commission declared Henry Armstrong's welterweight championship vacant today.

Stanley Scherr, commission chairman, said the move was directed against the "New York boxing monopoly" in general, and that by taking this stand Maryland became the first state to oppose the "powers that be."

The action came, Scherr declared, after he had been advised by Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, that the titleholder could not fight anywhere without the consent of Promoter Mike Jacobs of New York.

Efforts had been made to match Armstrong, Los Angeles Negro, with the winner of the Oct. 14 bout here between Louis (Kid) Cocca of New Haven, Conn., and Izzy Janazozo of New York.

Scherr said Mead told him he would demand $25,000 for such a match if Jacobs would consent, but that the promoter would not permit the champion to meet Cocca.

"If Armstrong intends to limit his fights to second and third rounds there is no reason why Maryland should recognize him," Scherr said.

Ohio State on Spot After Big Win Saturday

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—That opening game 30 to 7 victory over Pittsburgh's far-from-puny Panthers hasn't eased the worries of Coach, Francis Schmidt of Ohio State the least bit.

The tall, usually taciturn tutor of pigskin pyrotechnics grinned: "The boys looked mighty good, didn't they? I never expected to win by a score like that."

Then his face clouded. "But that just makes it so much tougher for us the rest of the way, and we have seven tough ones coming up," he lamented. "They've all been 'laying for us' because we're Big Ten champions, and now they'll pin at us more than ever because they'll figure we must be pretty tough to beat Pitt like that."

Schmidt admitted he had a flock of talent on his squad, with veterans too-deep in every position and some mighty likely sophomores just aching to beat the lettermen out of a job.

"But," he said, "we're not the only one that's got 'em. Look at what Purdue did to Butler, Minnesota did to Washington, and Michigan did to California Saturday. We have to meet all those winners. Why, we won't have time to take a breath between now and the end of the season."

The Buckeye capital's famed downtown coaches—probably the most rabid bunch of football fans in the country—are all set to start awarding gold footballs to the Bucks on the basis of the opening victory, but Schmidt doesn't subscribe to such ideas.

"We were pretty good last year, too," he recalled, "but look what Cornell and Michigan did to us. We'll just wait until it's all over before talking championships."

Don Scott, Ohio's flashy quarterback, backed by boomed here and there for all-America honors come November, didn't hurt his chances any in the opener, although tackle Charley Mace, a blond giant, and fullback and Captain Jimmy Langhurs lionized the spotlight.

Baltimore—(AP)—Asserting that it was "time to stop the tying up of boxers and smath monopolies," the Maryland state boxing commission declared Henry Armstrong's welterweight championship vacant today.

Stanley Scherr, commission chairman, said the move was directed against the "New York boxing monopoly" in general, and that by taking this stand Maryland became the first state to oppose the "powers that be."

The action came, Scherr declared, after he had been advised by Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, that the titleholder could not fight anywhere without the consent of Promoter Mike Jacobs of New York.

Efforts had been made to match Armstrong, Los Angeles Negro, with the winner of the Oct. 14 bout here between Louis (Kid) Cocca of New Haven, Conn., and Izzy Janazozo of New York.

Scherr said Mead told him he would demand $25,000 for such a match if Jacobs would consent, but that the promoter would not permit the champion to meet Cocca.

"If Armstrong intends to limit his fights to second and third rounds there is no reason why Maryland should recognize him," Scherr said.

Ohio State on Spot After Big Win Saturday

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—That opening game 30 to 7 victory over Pittsburgh's far-from-puny Panthers hasn't eased the worries of Coach, Francis Schmidt of Ohio State the least bit.

The tall, usually taciturn tutor of pigskin pyrotechnics grinned: "The boys looked mighty good, didn't they? I never expected to win by a score like that."

Then his face clouded. "But that just makes it so much tougher for us the rest of the way, and we have seven tough ones coming up," he lamented. "They've all been 'laying for us' because we're Big Ten champions, and now they'll pin at us more than ever because they'll figure we must be pretty tough to beat Pitt like that."

Schmidt admitted he had a flock of talent on his squad, with veterans too-deep in every position and some mighty likely sophomores just aching to beat the lettermen out of a job.

"But," he said, "we're not the only one that's got 'em. Look at what Purdue did to Butler, Minnesota did to Washington, and Michigan did to California Saturday. We have to meet all those winners. Why, we won't have time to take a breath between now and the end of the season."

The Buckeye capital's famed downtown coaches—probably the most rabid bunch of football fans in the country—are all set to start awarding gold footballs to the Bucks on the basis of the opening victory, but Schmidt doesn't subscribe to such ideas.

"We were pretty good last year, too," he recalled, "but look what Cornell and Michigan did to us. We'll just wait until it's all over before talking championships."

Bits About Bowling

Another bowling season is underway and the Post-Crescent again is providing a catch-all for dimes and data about bowling. Following last year's pattern, things that don't find their way into the daily news accounts of pin league activities will be included in this column.

We'll try to cover the alley front but obviously it is impossible to get around to all the drives nightly so we must rely chiefly on voluntary offerings. Much of the dope should come from league secretaries but there's no law against the individual kegler submitting things and stuff. And that means high-and-sidelights of league matches, screwy sequences, good shots, vice versa shots, pin mortems and what have you. We can't stress too strongly that the continued success of this venture rests with the individual pinster and each and every one of you (bless your little hearts) is invited to contribute any and all information concerning the fortunes, or misfortunes, of your fellow maple mashers. Our part will be to sift, check and relay the various items to the reader. So—step right this way, get this column in the groove, keep it rolling and don't leave it up to poor, overworked George.

The special cooperation of league officials and proprietors of alleys will make it possible to again carry a weekly honor list. In this respect, they are requested to write, wire or telephone before Saturday noon of each week the name and scores of those men who bowl SCRATCH series of 600 or more and SCRATCH games of 225 or more and those women who split a SCRATCH series of 500 or more and SCRATCH games of 190 or more. Last year we waded through the weekly pile, and we do mean pile, of score sheets to determine the honor bowlers of those leagues that didn't cooperate but no more—no more. We're tossing this right in the laps of league officials and if the list is incomplete our stock answer will be "Tsk, tsk, see your secretary." Figure it out, it takes each of the league secretaries not more than 5 minutes apiece to compile their separate lists while it takes one person, yours truly, many an hour to pick out the honor scores from all the leagues.

We'll label the above as Lecture No. 1 for the edification and perusal of league secretaries because we've got a couple more that we'll probably get off our chests before long.

And, now, let's look at what's happening in the bowling world. Last season the sport reached record heights in Appleton but that's going to look like small potatoes compared to this year, mainly because we're going to have a set of 16 brand new alleys out Wisconsin avenue way and the Elks have streamlined their alleys.

They're rushing work on Hahn's alleys and will get them into operation just as soon as it's humanly possible. Many leagues, most of them new circuits, already have reserved spots for their weekly matches. They tell me that if there's enough support the management will add eight more alleys, making 24 drives in a row. The north wall is being constructed so that it can be torn out with a minimum of expense to make room for the additional planks. Sixteen or 24, the alleys will help subdue the cry that "You gotta be in a league to bowl in Appleton."

The Elks have a right smart establishment now what with the alignment of their 10 alleys, new pin setting machines, swanky seats, fluorescent lighting, enlarged locker rooms and redecorated walls. What they need now is some acoustical board on the ceiling to deaden the sound of pin-battering and they'll have a plant second to none.

Already they're beginning to talk about bringing the state tournament to Appleton and it goes without saying that we hope something is done in that direction. It would put Appleton on the bowling map and be a boon to local business houses. Appleton keggers have alighted the state tournament in past years but now with an active city bowling association things should be different. And talking about tournaments, St. Paul will be host to the American Bowling congress next spring and plans are being formulated to send a special train from the Fox river valley, including a goodly representation of Appleton pin-busters.

Talk about your flying starts—the women certainly are getting off to one. The number of women bowlers this year has been sharply increased with two new afternoon leagues at the Elks, one being a 6-team loop and the other a 10-spoke wheel. They also have 20 women's teams rolling over there Tuesday nights. The Women's City League at the Arcade has been increased from 14 to 16 teams and the Y.M.C.A. has two 4-team leagues, one being an entirely new one this year. As in the past there probably will be women's leagues at the Eagles, Zion Lutheran and St. Joseph alleys.

Yep, it's going to be a big year—a few jottings show that: Louie Mader is in a class by himself. . . . He gave the gutters quite a workout with a 32 game, thus leaving room (and plenty of it) for improvement. . . . George Schwab initiated his 1940-41 season with a 252, of which 44 pins were handicap. . . . He stomped on to a 632, including a 332-pin handicap. . . . "Hooks" Bankrat, affable city bowling association president, tore the lid off in the Big Ten loop with a rousing 125. . . . Checker Lunch keggers of the Merchants league sounded like a broken record with a 953, a 953 and a 963. . . . Elm Tree Office of the Women's City league got in the same groove with a 678, a 677 and another 678. . . . W. Meyer let go with a 91 in the Lutheran Brotherhood circuit. . . . There are three well-organized leagues performing at Twelve Corners arcade. . . . They've got the Masons doing it now, a Craftsman's league having been formed at the Elks alleys. . . . Elmer Haferbecker gets the buff-colored bowling ball handle for going from a snug 98 to a neat 222. . . .

Get ready, Dr. Jekyll, for here comes Mr. Hyde.

That chap you see in the shaving mirror every morning is one man. The fellow you see in our hat mirrors this Fall is quite another.

And if you'll give us five minutes, we'll give you back five years.

It's an honest fact that the men leaving the store with new hats on their heads are away ahead of the crowd that came in.

EVEN A SPECTATOR TRIED TO STOP HARMON'S RUN—After breaking through the California line, starting on his own 14-yard line, Tom Harmon, Michigan's All-American halfback, thought he was alone after 84 yards but a spectator (1) came into view. He made a grab for Harmon (2), who cut to one side and made the remaining two yards (3) for his third touchdown. Police took the spectator in hand (4). Michigan won the game, played at Berkeley, Calif., 41 to 0.

Dodgers Second To Green Bay in Yards Gained

Cecil Isbell Tied for Second Honors in Individual Scoring

New York—(P)—Jock Sutherland is the "freshman" of the National Professional Football league coaches, yet he already is producing results with his Brooklyn Dodgers' attack.

The Dodger offensive has rolled forward 591 yards in two games, for an average of 295 per game second only to the 305 yard average compiled by the champion Green Bay Packers in three games. The Brooklyn average is 100 to 150 yards a game better than any Dodger team in the last eight years.

The league's forward passing leadership is turning into a wide-open four-club race, with Philadelphia and Green Bay completing the most aerials—42 and 32 respectively—and Washington turning in the top mark for efficiency, 23 completed in 39 tries for 58 per cent.

Cleveland's Rams are right up there in this department too, with 17 ringing the bell in 35 attempts for 48 per cent.

Point-scoring leaders at the end of the season's second week are Green Bay with 68 in three games, and the Chicago Bears with 48 in two games.

Defensively, the Detroit Lions are tops, allowing only 10 points, and permitting their backs to advance only 391 yards in three games.

Don Looney, Philadelphia end who has caught four touchdowns passes in two games, was held scoreless the past week, but still leads individual point makers.

Looney's 24 points gives him a six-point edge on Cleveland's John Drake and Cecil Isbell, versatile Green Bay star.

The leaders

	TD	PAT	FG	FG
Looney, end, Phil.	4	0	0	24
Isbell, back, G. B.	3	0	0	18
Drake, back, Cleve	3	0	0	18
Hutson, end, G. B.	2	4	0	16
Cuff, back, N. Y.	1	4	2	16

Tied at 12 points are Carl Mullen, Green Bay; Tomsett, Pittsburgh; Todd, Washington; Ruffe, Philadelphia; Hall, Chicago; Cards; Nicolai, Pittsburgh; Poole, New York; McAfee, Chicago Bears; and Kavanaugh, Chicago Bears.

J. Roth whipped a 225 game and J. N. Schneider rattled a 565 series to share individual honors during Knights of Columbus National league matches at Elks alleys last night. Adler Braus monopolized team honors with a 995 game and 2,780 series.

Three teams, Lincoln Lifers, Otto's Food Market and Adler Braus, are knotted for the top rung.

Among high games last night were Al Lichten 218, R. Weber 200, S. Timmers 204, W. McCavill 204, G. Otto 213, D. Peel 212, R. Abendroth 210, J. Schneider 214, H. Otto 205.

The DOG OWNER and HIS DOG

BY ALLEN KERR

This year, as in most other years, there is a mad scramble at the beginning of the hunting season to pick up a good dog. And they really want 'em good. From the demands one hears, they want those spaniels, setters, hounds or retrievers to do everything but pluck and dress the bird for the oven. But they don't seem quite willing to pay the price.

The fellow with the good dog, well cared for, conditioned and trained, isn't going to part with him for peanuts at the beginning of the hunting season, nor any other time for that matter. It has taken time and effort, not to mention money, to develop that pup.

But there is a way out for the fellow who will figure ahead a bit. Why not get a pup now and train him for next year's hunting. You'll have to pay a little more than you expect if you get one of good breeding, but if you don't, you have a couple of strikes on you before you start.

O'Brien Out of Shawano Game With Injuries

Ankle Injury Will Prevent Menasha Back From Playing Saturday

backfield man of the Menasha High school football team, will be out of the game with Shawano Saturday according to Coach N. A. Calder. O'Brien injured his ankle at Kaukauna and, although he finished the game last Saturday, he has been ordered not to put any strain on the foot for the next four days.

The rest of the Bluejay squad came through the tough contest in fairly good shape. Ray Michalkiewicz had a bruise on his left leg and Gene Resch hurt his arm slightly. Robert Wideman, sophomore fullback was knocked out on one play but did not aggravate his shoulder injury.

Coach Leslie Ansoorge scouted the Shawano-West DePere and New London-Clintonville games last Friday night. He reported that Shawano has a big team again with W. Reed the chief threat as he has been for the last two years. Shawano defeated West DePere 30 to 6, roughly the same margin that Kaukauna trounced the Panthers, 25 to 0. Kaukauna duplicated that score against Menasha, indicating that the Jays will have a battle Saturday for comparative scores.

Count for anything. Shawano and New London scouts watched the game at Kaukauna last Saturday. The Jays did open some holes over the Kaukauna tackles but the Jays backs failed to get through for any gains. The Menasha passing also failed to work effectively chiefly because the passer got little protection.

Sumnicht Grocers Remain Undefeated in K.C. Loop

H. Sumnicht pummeled the maples for a 222 game and G. Schuesser, but he had a 584 series during Knights of Columbus American league matches at Elks alleys last night. Pitiz and Treibers turned in top team totals of 915 and 2,527.

Sumnicht Grocers won three games from Fountain Lumber to remain undefeated and retain a lone hold on first place. Other high individual games follow: R. Bieseman 219, Frass 212, T. Monyette 200, G. Schuesser 220, F. Kampas 219, W. Hegner 200, E. Klingert 215.

Billy Miller In Windup of Neenah Card

Menasha — Billy Miller, Chicago Negro boxer, will meet Frankie Gaudes, Milwaukee, in the wind-up of the first professional boxing show to be presented by the Menasha Elks club at S. A. Cook armory, Neenah, Wednesday night, Oct. 9. Miller is a former golden gloves champion from New Orleans and now is under the management of Sonny Wallace.

Miller has won 20 of his 25 professional fights. He recently knocked out Kid Bruno, beat Eddie Carson and boxed draws with Jackie Cullura, a ranking featherweight; and Jimmy Webster, bantamweight champion of South Africa. Because of the scarcity of good featherweights around Chicago and Milwaukee, Miller has done much of his boxing in Canada where color is not so much an issue.

Miller boxed Johnny Gaudes, brother of the man he will meet in the wind-up here, and gained much popularity even though he lost by getting off the floor and tying more than he received in the latter part of the fight. Johnny Gaudes defeated Baby Yack, bantam champion of Canada, in a 10-rounder at Eau Claire recently.

Ray Apolskis Named Marquette Captain For Season's Opener

Milwaukee — Ray Apolskis, veteran center, will captain the Marquette University squad against the University of Wisconsin at Madison Saturday, Coach Paddy Driscoll said yesterday.

Bill Phillips, quarterback, and Erv Rick, sophomore tackle, returned to practice after a lay-off because of injuries.

Driscoll stressed pass defense and offense in yesterday's light drills.

Regulars will be excused from contact work this week, the coach said, but the second and third stringers were scheduled to scrimmage against the yearlings today.

Misses by Blonde Hair

Milwaukee — Marquette university's brilliant pass-catching left end, Don Vosberg, Dubuque, Ia., already has missed out on one all-American team, and it's all because he's not a Scandinavian. An eastern foreign language newspaper sports editor had Vosberg pegged for a spot on his all-Swedish selection, but learned that the lanky Iowa is German Dutch and English.

Pea-Knife Champ

Milwaukee — Jimmy Briggs, Gary, Ind., senior reserve center on the Marquette university football squad, achieved a new but doubtful honor the other day when he won the state eating-peas-off-a-knife title in a contest sponsored by the Wisconsin Canners' association. Briggs, as a matter of fact, is up on his etiquette but says he merely wanted to demonstrate his versatility in entering the contest.

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

The lads who pick football winners are warming up to the task these days and last week's reports showed a greater number of correct guesses and likewise a greater number of close guesses.

Several of the very common scores in football probably accounted for many of the correct guesses. For instance, the Appleton win over Sheboygan North by 13 to 0 was picked often. Likewise the Lawrence defeat at Grinnell, also a 13 to 0 score.

Here are the results:

Appleton—Frank Wettengel, 214 N. State street, repeats. He picked Appleton over North by 13 to 0 and broke a tie with several other guessers by missing Coe over Ripon by a point and Grinnell over Lawrence by a point.

Menasha—Cash Talarczyk, 427 Third street, takes the honors for the circulation area for the week and grabs a lead for those Wisconsin-Minnesota tickets. Cash picked three of 'em right. He had Appleton over North, Milwaukee Country Day over Neenah, 13 to 7, and Manawa over Waupesa 7 to 6.

Kimberly—Bob Willis did a top job at Kimberly with the two "regulars" picked correctly and two missed by a point. He picked Appleton over North and Grinnell over Lawrence correctly and missed on West over Oshkosh and East over Central by a point each.

Neenah—Jack Driscoll, 545 S. Commercial street, picked Appleton over North and called Neenah's defeat at the hands of Country Day school.

Little Chute—Jerry Lamers grabbed off the honors as easily as he does in bowling. He had Grinnell over Lawrence, Milwaukee Country Day over Neenah and broke a tie in his village by missing on New London over Clintonville by a point.

Kaukauna — Charles O'Connor, route 3, who showed rare ability by picking that Kimberly-Little Chute score. "Wonder if he was the guy who turned out the lights?"

And here's an announcement of interest to you grid pickers. For a long time we've felt picking correct scores was pretty much of a job so we're going to change the system a bit.

Starting this week we'll award the tickets on the greatest number of winning teams each entrant picks.

In the event of a tie we'll break it by noting the correct score for any one team.

The change should attract more guessers who can compare their efforts with our own each week—and those of Dick Davis if he suddenly becomes rash and tries his luck. The indications are that he won't, however, not since he stuck his neck out last week and someone in Kimberly got him out of bed to answer the telephone and be greeted with the crack: "Didja hear how Kimberly came out tonight?" Maybe that was the guy who turned out the lights?

Veteran Jimmy Wilson May Be Hero of the World Series

BY JOHN FRYE

Cincinnati — Just an offhand tip, though don't go overboard on anything these days but a gentleman of 40 may pin his whiskers out of the way and be the hero of the world series starting in this town tomorrow.

The bouncy gaffer is James Wilson, one-time manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, latterly coach for the Cincinnati Reds, and currently their excellent reserve backstop. Three seasons ago he said the years were catching up and gave the kids a chance to make their marks. The situation, briefly, is none too certain that Ernie Lombardi will be able to catch all the series games for the Reds, and any unexpected stain on that game foot, may bench him for the duration.

If Lombardi isn't ready, Jimmy is, and maybe the Detroit Tigers will never know the difference. Of the man who could retire after a long and honorable career as one of the best catchers in the National league; (2) having turned Bucky Walters into a pitcher; and (3) being responsible for the development of a number of other good pitchers like Claude Passeau and Hugh Mulcahy—consider.

After Willard Hershberger's death, Jimmy took up the slack. He played in 16 games, caught both ends of one doubleheader, skewered most of the runners who thought they could steal a base, and generally had the time of his life in the old spot.

Offensively he turned in nine hits in 37 tries for a .243 batting average. Two of them were doubles, one of which knocked in the winning run of a valuable game just before the Reds went on their pennant-clinching tour. Nothing sensational—just some hits where they were worth about $1,000 apiece to the club.

New Orleans — Jimmie Perrin, 1264, New Orleans, outpointed Joe Marinelli, 1273, Dayton, O., 10.

Chicago — Nate Bolden, 156, Chicago, outpointed Joe Sutka, 160, Wyandotte, Mich., 163; Settimo Terracina, 170, Italy, outpointed Al Tibbitts, 160, Danville, Ill., 163.

San Francisco — Vern Bybee, 128, Ogden, Utah, outpointed Charlie Miegel, 130, Kansas City, 10.

Authorized and Paid for — Milwaukee — It may be advertising, but Bill Phillips, Marquette university's star senior quarterback from Spring Valley, Ill., is wearing No. 66 on his jersey this fall.

Water Works System Completed at Village

The addition to the water works system in the village of Combined Locks has been completed, according to President Martin Williams. The addition, put in at a cost of $22,000 by the Wilson Construction company, covers the eastern section of the village. The system was started three years ago with a $9,000 installation. The addition completes the system, and it gave employment to an average of 18 men for five months.

The word "and" is used 5,513 times in the Old Testament.

Await Results of Planting Birds Foreign to Wisconsin

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau — Madison — Efforts of game men to stock the state with game not native to the Wisconsin environment, attended by striking success with pheasants, has aroused great interest throughout the country in similar projects. Thus the state conservation department looks forward eagerly to mid-winter when department game experts expect to have tangible evidence of the results of another foreign game bird stocking effort, this time with Chukar partridge.

The importation of pheasants from Europe has brought about a pheasant population in Wisconsin which is now the basis of the upland game hunting for thousands of Wisconsin sportsmen. So phenomenal have been the results that a total kill of pheasants of 500,000 can be expected in Wisconsin this fall, according to game authorities.

In a quiet way the state has been working for several years on Chukar partridge, which game men hope will some day take their place with pheasants as the foundation of Wisconsin game bird population.

Over 2,000 of the birds have been experimentally planted in various localities of Wisconsin. They were bred at the state game farm at Poyette, where their food, cover and breeding habits have been carefully studied. A complete survey of all plantings will be made in mid-winter, after which the conservation department hopes to be able to make specific recommendations for the most desirable stocking sites, together with suggestions on the general management of the bird.

The Chukar is a native of India. "They are a splendid sporting bird," according to the department, "are apparently adapted to barren types of country as well as to the better agricultural regions, and undoubtedly within a few years will be produced in quantity in captivity."

"In general appearance, the Chukar is a little larger than the Hungarian partridge and weighs on the average about 20 ounces. The plumage is very beautiful, although not highly colored enough to attract the attention of hawks and owls. The general color is like that of the mourning dove. Bill and legs are red; it has black stripes along the sides. Altogether the bird has a perfect camouflage in almost any kind of cover."

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME

Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

COOKIE QUICKIES

Yes, old fashioned rolled and cut-out cookies are hard to beat! But who wants to spend hours on a busy day making them. These recipes for "Quickies" both drop and sliced cookies—are quick and easy as A B C, and challenge the best of old-time favorites. Keep your cookie jar full of these easy cookies, and you'll have a handy supply to serve hungry children after school or for husbands who like to nibble during the evening.

Drop Cookies

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
2-3 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 squares unsweetened chocolate melted
1 cup finely cut raisins
1/2 cup chopped walnut meats
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat egg in thoroughly, add chocolate and blend. Add raisins and nuts, mixing well. Add flour alternately with cream, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. oven until done, about 15 minutes.

Butterscotch Cookies

3/4 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 egg, beaten light
1/2 cup vanilla
Sift flour, soda and cream of tartar together. Cream shortening, add sugar and cream thoroughly. Add eggs and beat well. Add vanilla and flour mixture, mix well. Shape in round or square loaf, wrap in wax paper and let stand in cool place or place in refrigerator overnight. Cut in thin slices and bake in a hot oven 425 degrees F. 8 minutes. If desired sprinkle with chopped nuts before baking. Makes 18 dozen cookies.

Exam Bids BASED on Good Sense

BY ELY CULBERTSON

The 1940 national bridge examination, which started only yesterday, deals exclusively with rubber bridge problems. Many readers have suggested, from time to time, that I also put in questions relating specifically to match point duplicate. I should like to oblige, but it wouldn't be quite fair. Presumably, a duplicate player knows all about rubber bridge, but thousands of rubber bridge players have never played duplicate, hence would be unable to compete on equal terms.

Now a word as to bidding systems in connection with this test: Bidding has been standardized to such a degree that only the users of artificial conventions will be under a handicap in answering my questions, as, according to my belief, they are also handicapped in actual games. No bids conventional to the Culbertson system alone will be involved! In almost every case the correct answer will be based purely on common sense, the exceptions being those cases in which the Blackwood slam convention or the Culbertson 4-5 no trump convention may be profitably employed. Due allowance for both of these will be made in the official answers.

Today's Questions

Answers will be given next Tuesday.

Question 2: Only North-South vulnerable. East deals and bids one spade. You are South and hold:

♠ 5 4 2 ♥ 7 ♦ A K 8 5 3 ♣ 6

What call do you make?

Question 3: Only East-West vulnerable. East deals and bids one heart. You are South and hold:

♠ A Q 10 8 6 ♥ 5 4 2 ♦ Q 10 5 ♣ 3

What call do you make?

Today's Hand

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
♠ 9 7 4	♥ K 9 4	♠ K 7	♥ K J 10 7 2
♦ A K 10 6 3	♠ Q J 8 5	♦ 10 6 5	♥ J 8 3 2
♠ 10 6 5	♥ 9 5 4	♦ 8 4 3	♠ A 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass

West opened the three of spades and East's jack forced out the ace. South had two lines of play to make his contract. If the spades were split 4-4 he could afford to knock out the ace of clubs and let the opponents take their spade tricks, thereafter making the rest, but if one of the opponents had five spades, five tricks would be lost immediately. The other chance of making the contract consisted in running the diamond suit without a loss. In order for this to be possible, the suit had to be split 3-3 and the queen had to be in the East hand.

Declarer's reasoning was as follows: "In each case it is necessary for an even number of cards to split evenly. In one case that alone gives me my contract; in the other case I not only have to get a 3-3 diamond break, but must find the queen of diamonds in the right position. The first chance is obviously the better one."

He therefore led the clubs immediately and made his contract. Note that if he had attempted the diamond finesse he would have lost his contract.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

School boards, beware! Never accept a teacher's advanced degrees in lieu of character and an attractive personality which stimulates pupils constructively. Choose men and women with vital, dynamic personalities who like children and have an enthusiasm for living. Select those who have "horse sense," not the theoretical "brain trusters" and don't hire sophists who scoff at the American form of government and want to ape European attitudes and customs.

CASE R-186: Marvin J., aged 21, is a university senior.

"I have been offered a graduate fellowship of $600 per year," he announced proudly. "I am thinking of accepting it and studying for my Ph. D. degree in economics."

"But my Dad recommends that I work for a couple of years to get some practical business experience first."

"But I must accept this fellowship now or pass it up entirely. Dr. Crane, what would you advise?"

DIAGNOSIS:

If Marvin had a goodly amount of "horse sense" and practical experience, then I would urge his continuation next semester in graduate study.

But Marvin is an indulged boy who has lived on a liberal allowance. He can discuss music and art dancing and athletics, sociology and college economics, with facility and poise.

But he doesn't know the meaning of money. He doesn't understand the difficulty in procuring it when you haven't a "pull" from your influential father or family and have to pound the pavements running around from one employment office to another.

A Ph. D. in economics would make a worse "brain trust" out of him than is now the case. There he would probably go into teaching and pollute the minds of other college students with vain theories.

Our university facilities are already cluttered with such nincompoops who think a doctor's degree qualifies them to be experts in government, agriculture and business. And our colleges are to be indicted for their asinine worship of higher degrees. The degree of H. S. or "Horse Sense" is worth more than any Ph. D. you can obtain.

A Ph. D., or doctor of philosophy degree, represents seven years of college work, plus the ability to read scientific German and French, plus a scientific treatise, usually of book length.

But we have hundreds of Ph. D.'s in this country who haven't enough horse sense to be worth the powder to blow them up. They have probed around in futile corners of science, frittering away valuable time and laboratory space on some such silly topic as the "Cultural Significance of the Castanet in Medieval Spain" or the "Love Life of the Gold Fish," when really important problems need to be solved.

If you think I am biased in my frequent criticism of many men who hold higher degrees, listen to Frederick P. Kappel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, which dispenses millions of dollars annually for university education.

Horse Sense in Education

... the creation of academic degrees has increased to a preposterous point in the United States," he stated in 1939. "Only in a few strong professions, notably medicine and law, and the older branches of engineering, can it be said that the possession of a degree today necessarily means anything."

"Else, all too often, a degree as such may mean literally nothing. All over the country, teaching and other vacancies are being filled by degrees, not by men and women, the appointing bodies accepting the diploma as a substitute for the tiresome process of really finding out something as to the professional and personal qualifications of individual human beings."

A man who has horse sense, moreover, can get more value out of one year of college than a "brain trust" can acquire with a doctor of philosophy degree. Send for a copy of my bulletin entitled "A Horse-cleaning in Education," enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and a dime for handling charges.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Patience and Kindness Needed With Shy Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Henry, take these apples over to Mrs. Tooley."

"Can't Tilly take them?"

"No, she can't. Why should she? You've got to stop putting off on your sister all the jobs you don't want to do. Just get over this notion about going to speak to a neighbor. Take this basket and go."

"I have a headache. I feel sick at my stomach. I'll go next time. Let Tilly go today and I'll go next time, honest."

"If this were the first time, all right. Tilly could go just as well as not. But she had to go to bring back the handle of the coffee pot, and she had to go over to tell Mrs. Small that her dog was in our garage, and it was she who had to ask Mr. Doll to give her your ball when it fell on his front porch. This is the finish. This time you go."

"I'm all dirty."

"Go clean up. Make up your mind you are going because you are, if I have to take you by the hand. You're going."

A Bad Case

Henry dragged himself to the bathroom. Soon there came sounds that filled the house. Henry was sick and no doubt about it.

"There. He's gone and MADE himself sick so he wouldn't have to do that errand. He'll go if it kills him and me in the bargain. I'm not going to bring up a hermit. Henry, hurry up and get down here. I'm waiting for you."

Henry could not help being afraid to go on the errand. He was so self-conscious that speaking to a stranger was painful to him. He was shaking with a chill and his ears and cheeks burned in a fever. His voice was lost in a fog and he felt lost and helpless. Yet somehow he must be rescued from himself so that he might live comfortably.

Be Reasonable, Kind

His mother was right, too. The easiest way to train a self-conscious child to meet people and deal with them is to send him on an errand with something to carry and deliver. For the first few times it is best not to ask him to speak. Don't give him a verbal message as well as the package, write it. The person to whom he goes will certainly speak to him and he will manage to say something if it is only, "Yes, sir."

Pick the people to whom you send the shy children. Make sure they know about the child and your reason for sending him. Then there will be no effusive speech, no insistence upon questions that embarrass the child. He needs to be met with cordial greeting and no fuss. A smile and a thank you are good medicine for him. Let him go quickly and he will be willing to try again another day.

The shyness that we call self-consciousness is an affliction and is to be treated with understanding kindness and patience, not discipline. That is punishment.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Beauty and You

The woman who has a dry skin, whether it is sensitive or not, has difficulty in keeping it smooth and lovely to touch. The least overdose of sun, a drive in the open, or a nippy day will irritate her face. She finds her skin slightly allergic to certain soaps and other beauty aids. Her selection of cosmetics must be most meticulous if she wishes to establish a daily routine which will bring out and preserve her latent beauty.

Cleansing First

A cleansing cream is necessary to remove make-up or dust, but the creaming should be followed by a washing with bland soap and warm water. Many experts are convinced that soap cleansing robs the skin of oil. I cannot agree with them. Soap cleansing is necessary for any skin. You must depend upon a skin oil or rich cream for extra lubrication, and a lotion or light cream foundation base to keep your make-up intact for the hours you are away from home.

There is a new liquefying cleanser available this fall which is kind to the most sensitive skins and does a neat job of ridding the pores of dirt and secretions. It looks good enough to eat (a luscious pink) and comes in an adorable container with a large bee on its lid. It will delight those women who like a quickly melting texture for cream cleansing.

A Lubricating Aid

Another boon to dry skin care is pure vegetable oil which one heats slightly in a pan of hot water before applying to the face, or, for that matter, to any part of the body including the scalp which needs lubricating and toning. The longer you leave it on your skin the better, but a busy woman may wear it only an hour or two and still reap beauty. It soothes and soothes. Applied to a freshly cleansed skin just before you take a hot bath is an effective way of banishing that fatigued look at the end of the day.

For Skin Protection

If a woman once acquires the habit of using a foundation lotion or cream beneath her make-up, she will never feel dressed without it. Such a formula protects the skin from the weather, keeps it dewy soft and holds make-up intact. But it isn't simple to find the perfect foundation for your specific skin texture and condition, so don't be discouraged.

Chapter 44

HER EXCELLENT BRAIN

"I believe that the murders were done without Felicia's knowledge," I said. "At least about Sandra. I saw her face when she learned of it, and she was shocked."

"But why did she worry her way in here three months in advance? It was a carefully thought-out plan, and hers was the brain that conceived it, in my opinion."

"And I shared her room last night! Gerald, she wasn't the one who attacked me. Who was the man?"

"The impostor at Fort Michigan. I had my eye on him from the first, but Sandra threw me off. That poor girl—that poor fool! Did she think she could pit herself against—"

"Gerald—tell me at once!"

"You asked me two questions. Who was the body in the car? And who was the man who attacked you? The answer is the same. Only not the same, if you follow me."

"Either tell me or go away. If that's your idea of soothing a sick person try it on the state hospital for the insane. Maybe they'll appreciate you. I don't."

"Kay, my dear, forgive me. Only it seems so obvious. I keep forgetting your head is probably hazy yet. It was the chaplain, of course."

I stared at him.

"I guess my head is hazy," I admitted. "That doesn't seem to make sense."

"Think it over a bit and you'll get it. Chaplain Henry, the chaplain Sandra had known in Texas, was ordered to Fort Michigan. He wrote to the adjutant. You were present in the mess hall when Felicia told about the letter. She probably thought if she didn't the adjutant would—so it was good strategy. The letter asked, you remember, about rooms, and also detailed him program of action, including his plans for purchasing a new Ford in Chicago and driving it here."

"He even asked where he should stop for dinner. Dollars to crullers, as the saying goes, she wrote back and recommended Fieldstone Inn. I say again that hers was the mind behind this coup, and I have plenty of reason to think so. Her husband, after that near escape from the elevated station, was in need of a hide-out. She knew of his susceptibility to poison oak, and there was enough of it around the post to give her the idea. The chaplain delivered himself into her hands."

"The husband—call him Bride-well for the sake of convenience, though it's probably not his name—lay in wait at the inn. You were with me the night I tried to find someone who had seen him. I haven't been able to prove it yet. But I know how it was worked. It's the only possible way. An acquaintance struck up, a casual mention of Fort Michigan, and the offer of a lift. Once in the car, events probably took place much as described later, but with important omissions. The real chaplain was murdered, by chloroform, carbon monoxide, or some similar method which would leave no trace after the body was burned."

"Felicia had been to Chicago that day. It was the following day, after I arrived, that she told you she had to go back as she had sent her the wrong giraffe. I'll wager she really bought that giraffe, really exchanged it the next day. It gave her all the excuse she needed to make two

Women Needn't Worry About Husbands Who Fish

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—We have been engaged almost seven years. We have not wanted a long engagement, but up to now it has seemed necessary. Here is the set-up: My mother has been a widow for many years. Now she is old and rapidly losing her eyesight. I am her only support. The man is an only child. His mother is also a widow, but she has a good position and lives with a sister. I think my fiancée and I owe it to ourselves to go ahead and get married and have our youth together. I want to marry and for him to move into my home, and help take care of Mother, as I do not see how we can leave her. He says it is not fair to his mother for him to leave her alone with her sister. Also, that she would be unhappy because she would have to take the street car to work every day, while now he takes her in his car. My own mother is 70 and his mother is in her fifties. My mother is practically blind. His mother is well. On top of that she has a job. My mother has nothing except what I give her. With both of our jobs we can easily make a go of it, and later on when his mother needs us we can take care of her, as both of us have jobs with good prospects for the future. As an alternative, he proposes an illicit relationship. I don't want that. I couldn't be happy on such an unsatisfactory foundation. He thinks I am not taking the right attitude toward it. What shall we do? Go ahead and get married and work out each problem as we come to it—break up entirely and stop day dreaming—or live together without benefit of clergy? WHAT TO DO.

Answer:

I think that if your fiancée really loves you and wants to marry you he will do it, even if it involves going to live with a mother-in-law. After all, mothers-in-law are not bloody ogres who eat up poor little helpless sons-in-law, and while he might prefer to have you to himself, if presented with the alternative of mother-in-law or no wife, he would take the mother-in-law if he wanted the wife badly enough.

Surely, if he has any real affection for you he will appreciate the cruel position in which you are placed and see that it would not be possible for you to forsake your poor blind mother in her hour of need. A man who would ask that of a girl shows that he is selfish and lacks even common human sympathy.

Of course, he has his duty to his mother, as you have to yours, but apparently she is not dependent upon him for support, and as she is already living with her sister she does not lack for companionship. His excuse that he cannot marry because he cannot leave her and that he had to drive her to work every day is too flimsy to be seriously considered. Virtually every man who gets married leaves mamma and ceases to be her chauffeur.

My guess is that he is trying to crawl out of the engagement. He doesn't intend to marry you, in my opinion, and that is why he suggests an illicit relationship. Don't let him persuade you into one, because when a man proposes that to a girl he is serving notice on her that he has no intention of binding himself to her, and that he is already determined to leave her when he gets tired of her.

I should say that your daydream is over, and that the wisest thing for you is to wake up. Certainly, I shouldn't think you would have to look far to find a kinder man and one more likely to make you happy.

Advice to Youth: Study for Job.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a girl of 13 and ever since I can remember I have wanted to be a movie actress and a doctor. I am very much interested in dramatic work and also in medicine, and I do so much want to do both. What can I do to prepare myself for these careers?

DORIS.

"Think it over a bit and you'll get it. Chaplain Henry, the chaplain Sandra had known in Texas, was ordered to Fort Michigan. He wrote to the adjutant. You were present in the mess hall when Felicia told about the letter. She probably thought if she didn't the adjutant would—so it was good strategy. The letter asked, you remember, about rooms, and also detailed him program of action, including his plans for purchasing a new Ford in Chicago and driving it here."

"He even asked where he should stop for dinner. Dollars to crullers, as the saying goes, she wrote back and recommended Fieldstone Inn. I say again that hers was the mind behind this coup, and I have plenty of reason to think so. Her husband, after that near escape from the elevated station, was in need of a hide-out. She knew of his susceptibility to poison oak, and there was enough of it around the post to give her the idea. The chaplain delivered himself into her hands."

"The husband—call him Bride-well for the sake of convenience, though it's probably not his name—lay in wait at the inn. You were with me the night I tried to find someone who had seen him. I haven't been able to prove it yet. But I know how it was worked. It's the only possible way. An acquaintance struck up, a casual mention of Fort Michigan, and the offer of a lift. Once in the car, events probably took place much as described later, but with important omissions. The real chaplain was murdered, by chloroform, carbon monoxide, or some similar method which would leave no trace after the body was burned."

"Felicia had been to Chicago that day. It was the following day, after I arrived, that she told you she had to go back as she had sent her the wrong giraffe. I'll wager she really bought that giraffe, really exchanged it the next day. It gave her all the excuse she needed to make two

Good Taste Today

"THANK-YOU" NOTE

To take time to look at a birthday or Christmas present and to show your appreciation is all that is usually necessary. The case of a bride is different. She is expected to send a note, in addition to thanking a person verbally, for two reasons. First, because she probably has very little chance to look at the present when it is sent to her among many others; second, because friends, as well as families, make considerable effort to give the nicest present they can afford—sometimes they go quite far beyond this. A birthday present, on the other hand, is probably a present much more casually chosen.

This "thank-you note" problem was encountered by a reader who asks: "Is it necessary for a young girl to write a thank-you note for a present which her aunt gave her in person on her birthday? The girl opened the package and said 'Thank you' and showed her de-

Exam Bids BASED on Good Sense

BY ELY CULBERTSON

The 1940 national bridge examination, which started only yesterday, deals exclusively with rubber bridge problems. Many readers have suggested, from time to time, that I also put in questions relating specifically to match point duplicate. I should like to oblige, but it wouldn't be quite fair. Presumably, a duplicate player knows all about rubber bridge, but thousands of rubber bridge players have never played duplicate, hence would be unable to compete on equal terms.

Now a word as to bidding systems in connection with this test: Bidding has been standardized to such a degree that only the users of artificial conventions will be under a handicap in answering my questions, as, according to my belief, they are also handicapped in actual games. No bids conventional to the Culbertson system alone will be involved! In almost every case the correct answer will be based purely on common sense, the exceptions being those cases in which the Blackwood slam convention or the Culbertson 4-5 no trump convention may be profitably employed. Due allowance for both of these will be made in the official answers.

Today's Questions

Answers will be given next Tuesday.

Question 2: Only North-South vulnerable. East deals and bids one spade. You are South and hold:

♠ 5 4 2 ♥ 7 ♦ A K 8 5 3 ♣ 6

What call do you make?

Question 3: Only East-West vulnerable. East deals and bids one heart. You are South and hold:

♠ A Q 10 8 6 ♥ 5 4 2 ♦ Q 10 5 ♣ 3

What call do you make?

Today's Hand

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
♠ 9 7 4	♥ K 9 4	♠ K 7	♥ K J 10 7 2
♦ A K 10 6 3	♠ Q J 8 5	♦ 10 6 5	♥ J 8 3 2
♠ 10 6 5	♥ 9 5 4	♦ 8 4 3	♠ A 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass

West opened the three of spades and East's jack forced out the ace. South had two lines of play to make his contract. If the spades were split 4-4 he could afford to knock out the ace of clubs and let the opponents take their spade tricks, thereafter making the rest, but if one of the opponents had five spades, five tricks would be lost immediately. The other chance of making the contract consisted in running the diamond suit without a loss. In order for this to be possible, the suit had to be split 3-3 and the queen had to be in the East hand.

Declarer's reasoning was as follows: "In each case it is necessary for an even number of cards to split evenly. In one case that alone gives me my contract; in the other case I not only have to get a 3-3 diamond break, but must find the queen of diamonds in the right position. The first chance is obviously the better one."

He therefore led the clubs immediately and made his contract. Note that if he had attempted the diamond finesse he would have lost his contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND

Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

School boards, beware! Never accept a teacher's advanced degrees in lieu of character and an attractive personality which stimulates pupils constructively. Choose men and women with vital, dynamic personalities who like children and have an enthusiasm for living. Select those who have "horse sense," not the theoretical "brain trusters" and don't hire sophists who scoff at the American form of government and want to ape European attitudes and customs.

CASE R-186: Marvin J., aged 21, is a university senior.

"I have been offered a graduate fellowship of $600 per year," he announced proudly. "I am thinking of accepting it and studying for my Ph. D. degree in economics."

"But my Dad recommends that I work for a couple of years to get some practical business experience first."

"But I must accept this fellowship now or pass it up entirely. Dr. Crane, what would you advise?"

DIAGNOSIS:

If Marvin had a goodly amount of "horse sense" and practical experience, then I would urge his continuation next semester in graduate study.

But Marvin is an indulged boy who has lived on a liberal allowance. He can discuss music and art dancing and athletics, sociology and college economics, with facility and poise.

But he doesn't know the meaning of money. He doesn't understand the difficulty in procuring it when you haven't a "pull" from your influential father or family and have to pound the pavements running around from one employment office to another.

A Ph. D. in economics would make a worse "brain trust" out of him than is now the case. There he would probably go into teaching and pollute the minds of other college students with vain theories.

Our university facilities are already cluttered with such nincompoops who think a doctor's degree qualifies them to be experts in government, agriculture and business. And our colleges are to be indicted for their asinine worship of higher degrees. The degree of H. S. or "Horse Sense" is worth more than any Ph. D. you can obtain.

A Ph. D., or doctor of philosophy degree, represents seven years of college work, plus the ability to read scientific German and French, plus a scientific treatise, usually of book length.

But we have hundreds of Ph. D.'s in this country who haven't enough horse sense to be worth the powder to blow them up. They have probed around in futile corners of science, frittering away valuable time and laboratory space on some such silly topic as the "Cultural Significance of the Castanet in Medieval Spain" or the "Love Life of the Gold Fish," when really important problems need to be solved.

If you think I am biased in my frequent criticism of many men who hold higher degrees, listen to Frederick P. Kappel, president of the Carnegie Corporation, which dispenses millions of dollars annually for university education.

Horse Sense in Education

... the creation of academic degrees has increased to a preposterous point in the United States," he stated in 1939. "Only in a few strong professions, notably medicine and law, and the older branches of engineering, can it be said that the possession of a degree today necessarily means anything."

"Else, all too often, a degree as such may mean literally nothing. All over the country, teaching and other vacancies are being filled by degrees, not by men and women, the appointing bodies accepting the diploma as a substitute for the tiresome process of really finding out something as to the professional and personal qualifications of individual human beings."

A man who has horse sense, moreover, can get more value out of one year of college than a "brain trust" can acquire with a doctor of philosophy degree. Send for a copy of my bulletin entitled "A Horse-cleaning in Education," enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and a dime for handling charges.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Chapter 44

HER EXCELLENT BRAIN

"I believe that the murders were done without Felicia's knowledge," I said. "At least about Sandra. I saw her face when she learned of it, and she was shocked."

"But why did she worry her way in here three months in advance? It was a carefully thought-out plan, and hers was the brain that conceived it, in my opinion."

"And I shared her room last night! Gerald, she wasn't the one who attacked me. Who was the man?"

"The impostor at Fort Michigan. I had my eye on him from the first, but Sandra threw me off. That poor girl—that poor fool! Did she think she could pit herself against—"

"Gerald—tell me at once!"

"You asked me two questions. Who was the body in the car? And who was the man who attacked you? The answer is the same. Only not the same, if you follow me."

"Either tell me or go away. If that's your idea of soothing a sick person try it on the state hospital for the insane. Maybe they'll appreciate you. I don't."

"Kay, my dear, forgive me. Only it seems so obvious. I keep forgetting your head is probably hazy yet. It was the chaplain, of course."

I stared at him.

"I guess my head is hazy," I admitted. "That doesn't seem to make sense."

"Think it over a bit and you'll get it. Chaplain Henry, the chaplain Sandra had known in Texas, was ordered to Fort Michigan. He wrote to the adjutant. You were present in the mess hall when Felicia told about the letter. She probably thought if she didn't the adjutant would—so it was good strategy. ## New London to Play St. Mary's Under Lights

Bulldogs Drilling For Non-League Tilt At Menasha Friday

New London — Nursing the usual bumps and bruises but no serious injuries, the Red and White grid-ers are working out this week for a tougher gridiron battle. Friday night they will travel to Menasha for a non-conference scrap with St. Mary's at the lighted Buttes des Morts field.

The Bulldogs are fortunate in having another non-league contest to gain experience before tackling the real opponents of the Northwestern Wisconsin conference. The squad will be away from home for the first time, the next home being the homecoming battle with Kaukauna here on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 26. Next week they'll be at Neenah and the following week at West De Pere.

St. Mary's will be gunning for revenge after the 13 to 12 defeat they took in the first meeting of the two teams here last year. Last year's contest was close and the big St. Mary's squad has the edge in weight again this year.

Faults uncovered against Clintonville last Friday will be worked out this week and some new plays will be tried. Scrimmage will be held under the lights Wednesday night. Enough boys to fill the 28 new jerseys will be transported to Menasha Friday night.

Hospital Patients

New London — Mrs. Julia Norris, 913 S. Pearl street, New London, and Mrs. Emil Dietler, Hortonville, are patients at Community hospital.

Births

New London — A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lehman of Bear Creek at Community hospital Monday.

New London Rotary Club Sets Date for Annual Founder Party

New London — Monday, Nov. 4, was set as the date for the annual Founders' Night party of the New London Rotary club at the noon meeting of the club at the Elwood hotel Monday. Committees for the event will be appointed this week by A. L. Severance, club president, and the board of directors.

More than a thousand rural guests are entertained by the Rotarians every fall at Washington High school the attendance last year reaching its peak at 1100. This year's will be the seventeenth annual affair.

2 Borden Employees Injured in Accident

New London — Victor Roberts, 1012 Navasau street, and William Peterson, 304 W. Cook street, employees of the Borden Milk Products company, spent Sunday night at Comman's hospital as the result of a blow to the head they received while working at the plant Sunday morning. Both suffered concussion of the brain and Roberts received a scalp wound which they were struck by a falling beam while installing a new ceiling at the plant. They were taken to the hospital for treatment and released Monday after a day's observation.

Arthur Palmer, 120 E. Pine street, escaped unharmed when the car he was driving rolled over on County Trunk X a mile west of Northport early Monday morning. The car turned over after passing a railroad crossing. The driver was alone.

Crew of 30 Finishes Blister Rust Project

New London — The government blister rust project in the New London area was completed last week by a crew of 30 New London men under Harley Govlin of Red Granite. Four of the crew were absorbed on the Hatten park W. P. A. project, bringing the park crew to 25. It is expected others will be absorbed by other projects. The blister rust project consisted of pulling out gooseberry and wild currant bushes in and around stands of white pine. Park problems, proposed next projects, and city departmental budgets will be topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the common council at the city hall this evening.

New London Student Is College Prom King

New London — Henry McDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McDaniel of this city, was elected class president at Prom king at St. Norbert's college at De Pere last week. McDaniel was president of the sophomore class last year, starting as vice president when he was a freshman. He is playing in the backfield of the first string football team this year after having played a stellar game last year.

PRESIDENT PROTECTS HIS EARS AS ARMY GUNS FIRE—Like everybody else, President Roosevelt put his hands to his ears when the army let go with a round of firing from a battery of anti-aircraft guns during his visit to the proving ground at Aberdeen, Md. At this 28,000-acre "laboratory" the army tests ordnance ranging from tanks and 16-inch shells to rifle bullets. With the President are Major General C. M. ## Mixed Chorus Is Organized At New London High School

New London — The Washington High school mixed chorus has been organized with 47 members by Miss Dorothy Wallace, director of vocal music, and the group elected officers last week.

Marcella Dernbach is president; Geraldine McPeak, vice president; Damaris Stein, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Patchen, business manager. There are 34 girls and 13 boys.

The 47 voices were selected by test from a much larger number of applicants. The group practices three times weekly on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, the boys one night, the girls, another, and the mixed group on Fridays. The chorus will begin work soon on its annual Christmas program at which it will make its first public appearance.

Boilers in City Hall Are Ready for Service

New London — The new boiler installation at the city hall has been completed and the preservative oil in the boilers was cooked out yesterday by Matt Nesbitt, janitor, to prepare the heaters for service.

In addition to the installation of two boilers and one stoker, which together cost $1,862, the boiler room and coal bin were completely rebuilt with reinforced concrete floor and walls with automatic fire proof doors.

The high-ceiling furnace room also was cut down to provide two storage rooms above the boilers, the largest about 11 by 14 feet.

Appleton Is Free of Infantile Paralysis

Appleton was free of infantile paralysis cases at the end of last week, according to Claude N. Greisch, deputy health inspector. Active cases of contagion in the city are one of chicken pox and six of whooping cough.

Curb on Ore Thefts

In a drive to curb ore thefts, which have increased alarmingly in the last year, the authorities in Mexico City have ordered all railroads and interurban motor truck companies to report every consignment of ore placed with them for shipment.

bon fire on the chapel, in case the fire failed and the car was discovered too soon. Or she could always have gone back, in the small hours when everyone was asleep and made certain the second time."

"Gerald, who was Melicia? And why should she plan two awful crimes like that? Not just for money. I can't believe anyone would do such things just for money. The theft of a child—and the cold-blooded murder of a good man—"

"The worst crimes are for money," Gerald said with quiet bitterness. "And they are usually committed by people who have convinced themselves that they have a grudge against the world. Like Sandra. You read that part of her document, didn't you? The rest of it—the incriminating part—told how they fooled her, too. At least, the chaplain said; she never knew Bridewell was an impostor; but when she confronted him with her knowledge he claimed to be a friend of the real chaplain. The story they hatched was that the chaplain had been in a dying relative and that he, Bridewell, had agreed to attempt the harmless deception."

"And Sandra believed that?"

"So she said; but perhaps she didn't really. At any rate, she saw a chance of turning a penny and hadn't the wit to make the obvious deduction when the car was burned."

or to realize that she was playing with dynamite. The nearest she came to the truth was to think he might be a spy.

"But that was later, after Ivan was killed, when she didn't really care what happened, Ivan had been in Hollywood and, penniless, had hitch-hiked or bummed his way as far as Chicago. He came to her for money—probably not the first she had given him. When you and Julie interrupted them on the barge—yes, Colonel Pennant told me all that—they made an appointment to meet there later after the party broke up. That was why Sandra was so long in giving the alarm."

"She waited until Mimi was asleep, borrowed her car and drove back out to the beach, expecting to find Ivan waiting for her there. He was there, all right, but she didn't find him. He must have been killed by Bridewell while you girls were absent from the barge. And it was undoubtedly meant to look like an accident."
